Miss Estella Emery, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harvey R. Emery, 14 Cedar street, is a popular member of the Sophomore class in the Newark High school. Miss Emery's acquaintance extends over a wide district and her friends are just as numerous as are her acquaintances.

Miss Earle Goff, 25 Gay street, is the daughter of Mrs. Robert Bates, is a graduate of the Newark High school class of 1902, and is a member of the Second Methodist church. Miss Goff has for several years been bookkeeper for the Newark Real Estate and Improvement company. Miss Goff has a wide circle of friends throughout the city.

Miss Anna Stare is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Stare, 26 North Fifth street. Miss Stare is a graduate of the St. Francis de Sales school, class of 1900, and later attended college at St. Mary's of the Springs. Miss Stare is now the competent bookkeeper at the Welant bakery. Miss Stare is fortunate in having many friends in business and social circles.

Miss Sylvia M. Siegfried, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Siegfried of Croton, and sister of Assistant Postmaster Simon Siegfried of the Newark office, is teacher of German and Literature in the Newark High school. The affection which her pupils in the school bear toward her is evidence of Miss Siegfried's ability as a teacher and her popularity among the students. Miss Siegfried lives at 143 West Main street.

Miss Maude Botts is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Botts, W. Main street. Mr. Botts being stockbuyer for the Howell Provision company. Miss Botts is the efficient stenographer for the well known law firm of Norpell & Norpell. She is a young woman who is very popular among her many friends.

Miss Lulu Howard, 183 South Pine street, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Howard, and is a milliner at J. W. Hansberger store. Friends who have learned of the announcement of Miss Howard's name are enthusiastic in her support.

Miss Alice L. Young, 173 North Fourth street, is the daughter of former Licking County Clerk of Courts William P. Young, one of the best known and most popular men in Newark. Miss Young graduated from Newark High school in 1905. Miss Young has a host of friends who will gladly support her.

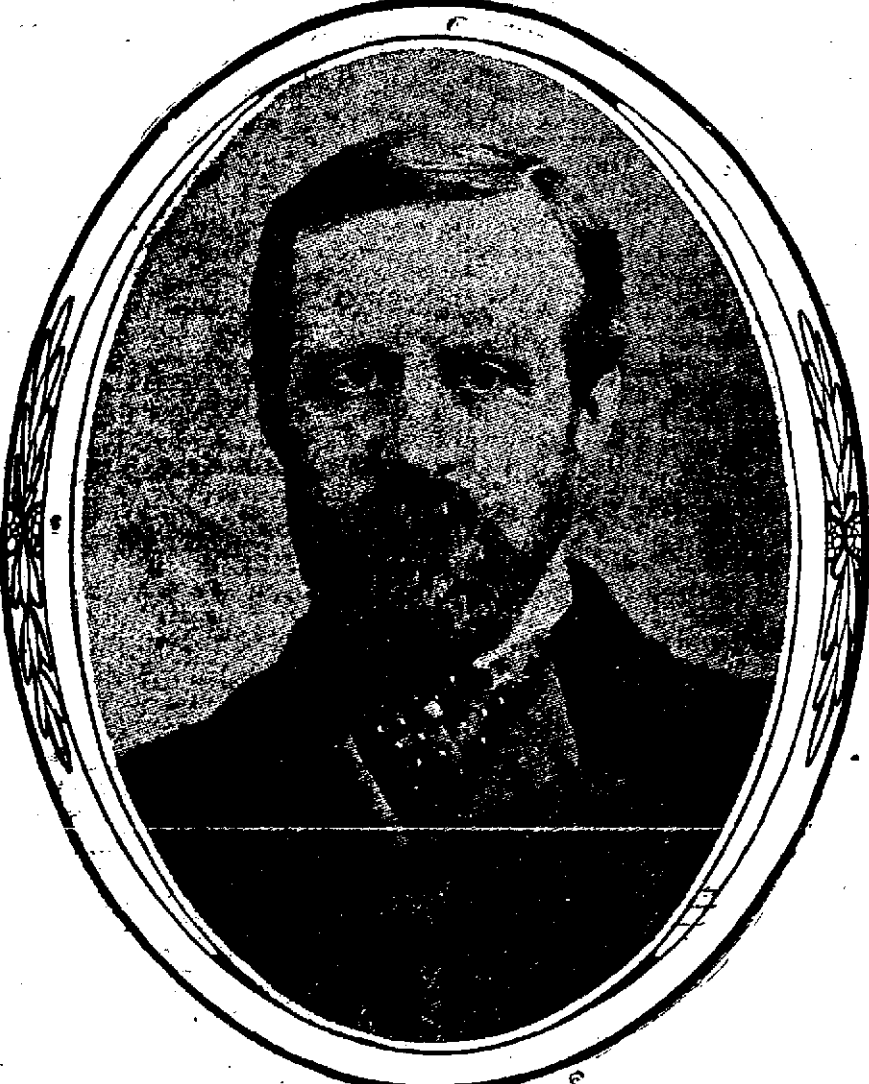

Miss Cora Dair, 80 North Pine street, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dair, and is in charge of the private telephone exchange at the Wehrle company's plant in West Newark. Miss Dair has many friends in the city and especially among the large number of employees at the Wehrle foundry.

Miss Anna Jones, 413 Maple avenue, is the popular chief operator for the Newark Independent Telephone exchange and her candidacy will be supported by many people in the city. Miss Jones, who is the daughter of Mrs. E. J. Johnson, is in charge of the large force of operators at the central exchange, and her strict attention to duty and uniform courtesy have won her many friends.

Miss Ruby Seward, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Watson C. Seward, and niece of Judge Charles W. Seward, lives at 249 Woods avenue. Miss Seward is in the linen department of

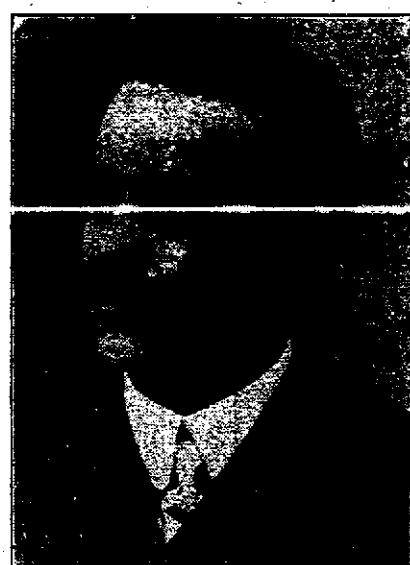

LORD LIEUTENANT OF IRELAND IS ABOUT TO RESIGN, DUBLIN HEARS.

THE EARL OF ABERDEEN
FROM THE WEST AFRICAN MAIL

DUBLIN, April 18.—Tradespeople here complain that the present Lord Lieutenant, Lord Aberdeen, does not make things "go" at all. The fact that there were only the smallest parties in the Vice Regal lodge for the Punchestown and Leopardstown races is rather resented. It is rumored, despite official contradiction, that the resignation of Lord Aberdeen is only a matter of time.

NEWARK'S LIVE ONES

A. C. DAVIS.

Mr. A. C. Davis of the P. Smith Sons' Lumber company, is one of the new directors of the Newark Board of Trade. Mr. Davis is one of the most prominent young business men of the city. He is a gifted speaker and his extemporaneous address at the recent annual meeting of the Board of Trade was pronounced by all to be one of the best on the program.

the Powers-Miller store and in her capacity as a clerk has proved most efficient and popular.

Miss V. Maggie Taylor is the daughter of Mr. James Taylor, one of the best known farmers of Franklin township. Already Miss Taylor's friends having learned of her candidacy, are coming to her assistance voluntarily.

Miss Nellie Rosebrough is the popular young daughter of Mr. Samuel Rosebrough of Hebron, and a niece of Mr. A. W. Rosebrough and the late J. B. Rosebrough, for years manager of the Auditorium. Miss Rosebrough's friends in Newark and in the western end of the county will learn of her candidacy with pleasure.

Miss Florence Madden, another bright Hebron girl, is a student in the Hebron schools. Miss Madden is the daughter of the Rev. T. N. Madden, one of the best known men in Licking county. Miss Madden has a pleasing personality that has won her many friends.

Miss Fannie Duffil is a popular young lady whose home is at Luray, just west of Hebron. A message from Hebron Thursday in announcing the candidacy of Miss Duffil speaks in high terms of Miss Duffil.

Miss Mabel Sutton of Monroe township, R. F. D. No. 5, Johnstown, O., is nominated by two of the best known people in Johnstown, and word comes from that section that Miss Sutton will make a splendid race.

Two nominations were telephoned from Utica to the Advocate Thursday afternoon by a prominent citizen of Utica. The names are Miss Bertha Clark, a popular clerk at George Stone's store, and Miss Bertha Bittison, who until recently has been

JOHN R. WALSH HAS CONVINCED CHICAGO BANKS

THAT HE WILL BE ABLE TO COMPLETE THE CHICAGO SOUTHERN RAILROAD.

WILL REQUIRE $2,500,000

Clearing House Banks Have Agreed to Contribute to Any Syndicate Walsh Forms.

Chicago, April 18.—John R. Walsh, according to announcement made by the chairman of the clearing house committee, is forming a syndicate to complete the Chicago Southern railroad. It will require substantially $2,500,000 and Mr. Walsh has convinced the Chicago banks that he probably will be able to raise the money, and within less than a year have the Chicago Southern in operation in connection with the Southern Indiana. The clearing house banks have agreed to contribute $250,000 to any syndicate which Walsh may form in his efforts to complete the roads.

When the Walsh banks were closed the clearing house association in order to pay the depositors of the Chicago National Bank and Home Savings Bank and certain indebtedness of the Equitable Trust Company took as security the Southern Indiana railroad, the Chicago Southern railroad and certain other assets controlled by Walsh. The clearing house banks then paid all depositors in full the amounts they had with the Walsh institutions.

For fifteen months the clearing house association has been endeavoring to sell the two Walsh railroads for a price which would net them $11,500,000 substantially the amount of deposits which they paid, and also leave something for the stockholders of the Chicago National and Home Savings banks.

GOVERNOR NAMED FOR NEW MEXICO

Washington, April 18.—Governor Hagerman, of New Mexico, has resigned, and the President has appointed George Curley, Governor of Samar province in the Philippines, to succeed him.

Officials Under Arrest.
Marksville, La., April 18.—Charged with manslaughter for their alleged carelessness in allowing the negro Charley Strauss to be lynched, Deputy Sheriffs J. E. Keegan and J. J. Salmon were brought here under arrest and placed under $700 bond each. Strauss was hanged to a tree in the woods near Eola, La., where a crowd of masked men met the deputies as the latter escorted the negro to jail.

Mining Town Wiped Out.
Toronto, April 18.—Litchford, a mining town in the cobalt mining district, was destroyed by fire.

PASTOR'S HOME WAS DESTROYED BY DYNAMITE

Hazleton, Pa., April 18.—Early this morning the parochial residence of Rev. Yankola, pastor of St. Joseph's Catholic church, was blown up with dynamite. No one was seriously injured. Several weeks ago the clergyman received a black hand letter threatening to kill him unless he left the city. There are two warring factions in the church. The clergyman was very unpopular with one.

British Patents Bill.

London, April 18.—The patents and designs bill, which amends the existing patent laws, and the main object of which is to prevent the patent laws from being used for the hindrance and suppression of British industrial development, unanimously passed its second reading in the house of commons. Both sides of the house strongly supported the government. The trend of the debates was that this country had lost various industries because foreigners were permitted to patent inventions here and to work them abroad, which prevented their being utilized in the United Kingdom. Some of the speakers, however, feared that inventors of moderate means would suffer from the imposition of charges that they could not bear.

COUPON, PAGE FOUR

MARVIN BOY LOCATED

CAMBRIDGE, Md., It is reported here that Horace L. Marvin, the missing son of the Delaware physician, has been located at a spot near here on the Nanticoke river. The police have left for the scene and expect to have the boy safe before nightfall. The report appears to be well grounded.

A man named Brittingham reported to the sheriff that he had seen a man and woman with a boy in the woods near his home. They had a cabin boat. Brittingham identified the photograph as that of the boy with the couple. The headwaters of the river reach within 15 miles of Dover and the officials feel certain the boy is the Marvin child.

DOROTHEA CROUSE, HEIRESS, FLEES FROM TITLED FORTUNE-HUNTERS.

Miss Dorothea Edgarita Crouse.

New York, April 18.—It is learned that Miss Dorothea Edgarita Crouse, daughter of the late D. Edgar Crouse, of Syracuse, half of whose large estate she inherited ten years ago, has sailed for Paris to join her mother, the Countess Policka. It was to escape the unwelcome attentions of titled fortune hunters who pursued her this side of the Atlantic.

Heiress to $4,000,000 and possessed of more than ordinary beauty, and owning a $100,000 mansion in Riverside Drive, the girl is the object of solicitation on the part of fortune hunters.

Impecunious noblemen of the Continent have prostrated themselves at her feet, and she has already been the recipient of fourteen offers of marriage.

DR. OLIVER HAUGH WILL DIE AT THE PENITENTIARY TONIGHT

Columbus, O., April 18.—Thursday night Dr. Oliver Haugh will die in the electric chair for the murder of his father, mother and brother at Dayton, on November 4, 1905. The case was taken from court to court and reviewed by the board of pardons and Governor Harris, all of whom decided against him. In the penitentiary the condemned man spends all his time lying on a cot, sulky and morose with nothing to say to anyone except his Catholic spiritual adviser.

COUPLE JUMPED INTO RIVER AFTER BEING INTERCEPTED

Staunton, Va., April 18.—Mabel Pendleton and Stuart Gay, of Clifton Forge, en route to Washington to be married, were intercepted here by order of the parents and sent back home by train. When they arrived at Clifton Forge the young couple while crossing a footbridge over the river, jumped into the water, 40 feet below, and both were drowned. The bodies were not recovered. The girl was only 12 and the boy 16.

ARRESTS WERE MADE THURSDAY IN COLUMBUS ICE CASES

Columbus, April 18.—C. M. Kincaid, general manager of the Crystal Ice company, Starling Waddell of the Waddell-Brennan Ice company, as a corporation, were arrested today on indictments charging a violation of the Ohio anti-trust law. This results from the investigation of the local ice conditions.

DONA GILMAN'S FAMILY BOUND OVER

Dayton, April 18.—Waiving a preliminary hearing in Squire Holderman's court this morning, four members of the Gilman family were bound over to the grand jury on the charge of killing Dona Gilman last November. Mrs. Gilman, the mother of the girl, appeared in court for the first time. She looks very feeble. The grand jury will meet in October.

SENATOR ELKINS ESCAPES ARREST AS PAL OF FEMALE SHOPLIFTER

Washington, April 18.—U. S. Senator Elkins of West Virginia, narrowly escaped arrest this afternoon as a suspected pal of an alleged female shoplifter. Detectives in plain clothes held the woman at a patrol box at the shopping district. She was struggling fiercely. The senator, not understanding the case, roundly upbraided the officer. The latter reported and would have nabbed the senator had not some one given him a hunch.

UNITED STATES FAVORS PEACE IS SENTIMENT

WHICH WILL HAVE A WEIGHT WITH THE COMING HAGUE CONGRESS.

CARNEGIE WAS DECORATED

With a Degree in the Legion of Honor—New Societies Were Enrolled.

New York, April 18.—Feeling fully satisfied with the accomplishment of the Carnegie peace conference, which closed its three days' session with banquets at the Hotels Astor and Waldorf-Astoria, last night, delegates to the meeting today were preparing to depart to their homes. With one voice the delegates and visitors declared their belief that the congress would have great weight with the coming Hague conference to show that the United States is strongly in favor of steps being taken to bring about international peace. The conferring of the legion of honor decoration on Andrew Carnegie at the Hotel Astor banquet last night by Baron d'Estournelles de Constant, greatly pleased the peace delegates.

One noticeable feature of the recent congress was the number of new members enlisted in both the national and New York peace societies. Plans for the next national congress are already being discussed.

WIFE WILL STICK TO HER HUSBAND

Ashland, April 18.—Victoria Boberg, aged 14, who eloped from here with Earl Cane, 27, and was married in Canada, is at the home of her parents here. Cane is in jail, but will probably not be prosecuted. The girl says she loves Cane and will stick to him.

BELGIAN REPUBLIC IS BEING URGED

Brussels, April 18.—A Belgian republic is being seriously urged by the workmen's party to succeed the present monarchy. King Leopold's opposition to plans for the betterment of the condition of the working people of the nation is chiefly responsible for the agitation for the change of government. The initiative in the movement was taken at a general conference of the workmen's party when speeches openly declaring in favor of a republic were made. This suggestion met with great favor and the agitation seems bound to go on. Leopold was denounced as the chief obstacle in the way of workingmen.

Double Tragedy.
Claremore, Utah, April 18.—George Golden shot and killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Kate Paris, in her hotel here, and later was shot dead by Chief of Police Leech in a running duel in which Leech was slightly injured. Golden had quarreled with Mrs. Paris over a board bill.

SOCIALISTS FIGHTING WITH WORKMEN

Lodz, April 18.—The fighting between the socialists and workmen in factories has been continuous for 48 hours. Twenty-three casualties have been reported. The socialists have declared that no workmen shall labor in the factories, and bloodshed followed the efforts to carry out the edict. The police stood calmly by, watching the encounters. It is feared a general outbreak will follow.

Demand of Sardine Canners.
Nantes, April 18.—The sardine canners of this city adopted a resolution asking the French government to undertake such steps as may be necessary to bring about the discontinuance of the orders, issued by the American government, that the label on sardine cans be printed in English.

NO MOVE FOR BAIL

New York, April 18.—No move was made toward Thaw's release on bail. Mrs. William Thaw left for her home in Pittsburgh today. Evelyn paid her usual visit to Harry.

Mrs. Hanna Kelford, 81, an aunt of the late President McKinley, died at her home in Bloomfield, O.

ANIMAL SAGACITY.

The Instinct That Lends the Ostrich to Protect Its Eggs.

The nature students—everybody is a nature student nowadays—were trying to outdo one another.

"Eagles when the sun is overhead shade their young with outspread wings," said the first. "On August afternoon I have seen a mother eagle stand patiently two full hours, her left wing spread like an umbrella, while in its cool shade her nestlings slept."

"Squirrels," said the second, "can tell whether a nut is good or bad without opening it. A chestnut, a walnut, a shellbark, they lift it in their little paws, hold it to their faces a moment, then if it is bad cast it aside. How do they tell? By the weight, by the sound? I incline to think they do it by the smell."

"Ostriches never sit," said the third. "They lay their eggs on the pale Saharan sands, and the sun does the rest. But before the ostriches depart from their eggs they place on the top of each a pinch of sand, for they know that the germ will mount to the top and that the sun's heat would kill the germ were it not protected."

"A trained elephant," said the fourth student, "danced very badly at a matinee performance and was accordingly beaten cruelly by its master. That night, hearing a shuffling noise outside, the master crept forth, and there in the moonlight he found the elephant carefully practicing its dance steps."

THE EXPIATORY DEAD.

Inexplicable Fate of the Enemies of Dreyfus Revision.

"Always the dead!" Reinach cried bitterly. "Whenever we find a forgery, a crime, always it is set to the account of a dead man."

And he drew up a list, horrible in its eloquence, of the dead who strewn the dark path of this monstrous case of crime and cruelty and infamy. Yet there had fallen so many of the enemies of truth and justice that he might have called them the expiatory dead.

Three I have told you of—that poor wretch, Leimercier-Picard, "found dead" in his room in the Rue de Sevres; Henri, "found dead," with a closed razor near by; Felix Faure, "found dead" and smuggled into his palace.

There were many others. Captain d'Attel, who claimed to have heard Dreyfus avow his guilt to Lebrun-Reault the day of his degradation, was "found dead" in a railway train, his corpse blue and already on the way to decomposition, though his journey had lasted but an hour. This pretended confession, which Dreyfus never made, D'Attel confided to his friend, Chaunlin-Servinette, a member of the chamber of deputies. Now, the deputy took train one day to visit his home. An hour later he was "found dead" on the railway tracks between two stations. And Rocher of the prison guards, who also claimed to have heard Dreyfus say, "I am guilty, but I am not the only one," died, and to this day no one knows where or how. It was as though eternal truth had reached down and slain this lie wherever it lifted its evil head.

The prefect Barreme was summoned to Paris by his government chief. He was "found dead" in his compartment when the train arrived at the Gare St. Lazare. Laurenceau, prefect of the north, was called to Paris to give evidence regarding the spy system on the German frontier. There was no accident on the journey. The next day he was "found dead" in his room at the Hotel Terminus.

Lormier, one of Henri's most tireless agents of forgery and crime, was "found dead," hanged in a lonely barn; another, Guenee, was "found dead" on the floor of his room in Paris. Then there was Munier. His part in the conspiracy had been to falsify the meaning of a cryptic telegram sent by Panizzardi to the Italian government, so that it affirmed the guilt of Dreyfus. And Munier was "found dead" in a railway train. Was it any wonder the martyr's friends began to see in these mysterious and opportune deaths the work of an avenging destiny? With grim emphasis Reinach declared, "Decidement la fatalite est Dreyfusard!"—the very stars in their courses fought against the lie.—Vance Thompson in Success Magazine.

An Optical Illusion.

An interesting optical experiment may be made with the ordinary incandescent light. Gaze steadily at the light for a few seconds, then suddenly extinguish it. The experiment is best performed in a very dark room. In about half a minute you will see the perfect image of the light, with the fine strands of wire plainly visible. It will be red at first. In a few minutes it will turn purple and then a bright blue. Later it will apparently move to the right. As you turn your gaze it will continue moving to the right. If you keep your gaze fixed, it will come back. It is surprising how long the illusion will last. It will be seen for fully five minutes, perhaps longer, and if you turn on the light and look away from it you will see the old image for several minutes, though more faintly than in the darkness.

Only Slight Mistakes.

Mrs. Lombard is a zealous and loyal friend, and she means withal to avoid exaggeration. "It's perfectly wonderful to see the way Cousin Henry counts bills at the bank," she said to a patient friend. "Why, I think they are so lucky to have him! He'll take a great pile of five and ten and twenty dollar bills and make his fingers fly like lightning and never make a mistake!"

"Never?" said the friend, who knew Mrs. Lombard's weakness and could not forbear the question.

"Why—no—at least—why, perhaps he might get 5 or 10 cents out of the way, but not any more, ever." And Mrs. Lombard spoke with the air of one who has taken a stand and refuses all chances to retreat.—Youth's Companion.

Disraeli's Confidence.

Disraeli wrote a letter to his sister in 1833 in which he said: "Heard Macaulay's best speech, 'Shiel and Charles Grant.' Macaulay admirable, but, between ourselves, I could floor them all. This entree nous (sic), I was never more confident of anything than that I could carry everything before me in that house. The time will come."

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney Nerves. The Kidneys, like the Heart, and the Stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the Kidneys alone is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.
If your back aches or is weak, if the urine scalds, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggists recommend and sell.

BECOMING A MOTHER

Is an ordeal which all women approach with indescribable fear, for nothing compares with the pain and horror of child-birth. The thought of the suffering and danger in store for her, robs the expectant mother of all pleasant anticipations of the coming event, and casts over her a shadow of gloom which cannot be shaken off. Thousands of women have found that the use of Mother's Friend during pregnancy robs confinement of all pain and danger, and insures safety to life of mother and child. This scientific liniment is a god-send to all women at the time of their most critical trial. Not only does Mother's Friend carry women safely through the perils of child-birth, but its use gently prepares the system for the coming event, prevents "morning sickness," and other discomforts of this period.

CITY OF WARREN
STRUGGLES WITH WATER PROBLEM
CITIZENS THERE OFFERED $250,000
FOR PRIVATE COM-PANY'S PLANT.
Company Refused the Offer and City
Officials Visit Newark to Study the Question.

A committee of Warren city officials were in the city Wednesday on a junket, looking into the water works situation. It seems that the city of Warren is up against the same sort of proposition that Newark is facing, and that they are negotiating for the purchase of the water plant which has been in use about the same length of time that the Newark plant has.
The committee consisted of Solicitor A. L. Phelps, President H. H. Pierce of the board of service, and Councilmen Wm. S. Volt and Wm. H. Dana. They told the city hall officials that they are contemplating municipal ownership and that they had offered the old water company $250,000 for their plant, which offer was turned down.
Warren is not quite half as large as Newark, the census of 1900 giving them something like 8,000 inhabitants. Their water plant is therefore not so large or as complete as the Newark plant. There is practically no difference in the age of the two plants, the Warren system being put in operation only a few weeks after the Newark private plant was started.
China is producing about 90,000 tons of iron ore a year at Shu-Wei-Tao, some eighty miles from Hankow but is shipping it all to Japan. The ore yields 60 to 65 per cent of iron. Millions of tons of this rich ore is in sight. Besides large quantities of limestone.

NEW YORK OFFICIAL, ACCUSED, AND ASSOCIATE.

C. D. B. HASBROUCK & RUSSELL S. JOHNSON
Albany, N. Y. April 18—Friends of Otto Kelsey, insurance superintendent, are astounded at Saturday's developments in the Supreme court here in the case of the receivership of the Manhattan Fire Insurance company. Mr. Kelsey's admission that as receiver he paid so little attention to the finances of his trust that $3,100 could be withheld from the collections without his knowing it comes at a time when there is a crisis in Mr. Kelsey's official life.
G. D. B. Hasbrouck and Russell S. Johnson, the receivers' attorneys, have waxed wealthy on the fees allowed, while little is left for policy holders, stockholders and depositors.
Hasbrouck & Johnson have already received about $60,000 in fees in sight still.

TAX INEQUALITIES
Mayor Tom L. Johnson Points Them Out to Tax Commission.
Suggests That Constitutional Obstructions Should Be Removed—Double Taxation is Not Fair.
Before the Tax Commission of Ohio, March 12, last, Mayor Tom L. Johnson of Cleveland discussed "Taxation" as follows:
The greatest difficulty in our taxing laws is that we have followed the old plan, which has grown into a lot of inequalities. They are present everywhere. There is no community, no matter how small, that is not suffering by the fact that some of the property is assessed at 10 and some at 100 per cent of its value; and to the extent that is true some men pay ten times more than their share of taxes while other men pay only one-tenth of their share.
I know a piece of property, acquired lately, where the tax duplicate was only 8 per cent of the price paid; not a forced price either. I could multiply that example by thousands. You can not go into a city, into a county or any small district but you find these illustrations.
Everybody agrees there are inequalities. What produces them? You can't trace it all to one reason; but there are some leading reasons to account for it. A street railroad was sold on the market at ten million dollars. No doubt about its value; the stock was quoted regularly. It was assessed for $600,000, or 6 per cent. Ten millions of property owned by small owners, homes, factories and shops, not the worst cases, but the average cases of small owners, stand on the duplicate at six million, or 60 per cent. The reason for that discrepancy is perfectly plain. Thousands of people owned the ten million dollars in small places; none of them had a sufficient interest to give his own time or employ anyone's else time to look after the tax duplicate, to either go before the legislature or employ ingenious arguments to defeat the assessor in arriving at a conclusion or to defend by technicalities any misstep made by the assessors. All these were concentrated in one case, and they were scattered in the other. What is the business of all is not anyone's business.
Taxation of Banks.
I will give you an illustration which looks a little on the other side, where a very big interest, controlled by comparatively few men, is truly the highest taxpayer of the state. Now, we consider the banks of the state are represented by more than representative men; the bank directors are business men, wide awake; they look to their own interest; yet the bank capital of this state is assessed at about 60 per cent of its value, while the railroads are assessed about 19 per cent of their value. I gave you an illustration of only 6 per cent in the case of a street railroad. So that the bank seems to be a case where a powerful interest, controlled by powerful people have never been able to get their share of exemption from taxation. Now the reason for that is that the bank deals in dollars; it deals in figures that they can not juggle. So that I draw two conclusions; the nearer the tax machinery can be made public, the more people can see it, the better it works. The bank does not escape because it is in public view.
Constitutional Obstructions.
I would take away every restriction from the legislature and allow them to do just what they wish. I don't believe in constitutional restrictions, so that people think, when they have adopted them, they can go home and go to sleep and let some one else run their government for them.
If I could write the plan of taxation for the state of Ohio I would propose that each locality should have the power within its own limits to levy and collect all the taxes they want. When the state comes to raise its revenue; if there is some thing like steam railroads that go all over the state, have these assessed as the state's property, for the general purpose of the state. If that is insufficient, supplement it by putting on each county a tax in proportion to the amount of money they collect for their tax; that is of contributing according to the amount of money they spend.
Double Taxation.
It is not wise to tax a piece of property and also tax the deed thereon, and that is just what you do when you tax either the bonds or the stocks. If you have a deed to a piece of property and that property is subject to taxation, it pays its full share no matter where it is. In other words, when you tax the evidence of ownership of property to that extent it is double taxation. I do not think state bonds and city bonds should be taxed, as you don't tax court houses and schools.
Under the Ohio law, if you own stock in an Ohio corporation, you are exempted from paying taxes because the property being in Ohio is supposed to pay the tax. If you, as a citizen of Ohio, own stock in a corporation in Pennsylvania, notwithstanding the property in Pennsylvania pays, you are expected to pay again in Ohio. I think this is vicious. I think it is an attempt to build a fence around the state of Ohio to hold Ohio property in, keep property from coming in.
Taxation of Occupancy Money.
The question of occupancy money is the hardest one to answer. Of course, I don't really think money is a thing you can tax or that you ought to tax, for it is the most unprofitable thing men have, and yet everybody wants it. In itself it yields nothing. I would not tax it for the same reason that I would not tax dogs. I think most communities like to have money come in. They tax the dogs to keep them out. The cash on hand the banks hold ought not to be taxed. I don't see any object in taxing money, mere government money, paper representing the debt the government owes you. It ought not to be taxed.
Home Rule in Taxation.
I believe home rule in taxation is the greatest subject we have. I think more depends on it than mere justice to the taxpayer. That is the moral part of the taxation subject. What you are really discussing is bigger than that. At the bottom of the taxation question is the one that is going to solve the labor problem, the question of the slums; it is the big side of the taxation question. For just as certain as we have a rational scheme of taxation, just so sure that will have the effect of abolishing unjust privileges.

Every nutritive element of the best white wheat grown is found in Malta-Vita. This famous food is the whole of the wheat thoroughly steamed and cooked in absolute purity and mixed with the finest malt extract that was ever made, thus it is the richest, strongest food in the world. You understand, of course, that the cooking and steaming of the wheat gelatinizes its starch, and then the malt extract, a powerful digestive agent, quickly converts this starch into maltose, or malt sugar. Maltose is great food and the weakest stomach digests and assimilates it without effort.
We all know that for many years physicians of high standing in their profession have prescribed malt extracts, which contain a large percentage of maltose. Malta-Vita, the crisp, delicious whole-wheat food, contains from eight to ten per cent of maltose.
When Malta-Vita comes from the ovens, it is the crispest, most delicious food in the world, containing only one per cent of moisture. The other 99 per cent is food—brain and bone and nerve and muscle food—and most easily digested.
Malta-Vita is always fresh and crisp, and ready to eat. Delicious, refreshing, invigorating. No other food like it. All grocers, now 10 cents.

SOFTNESS OF SEALSKIN.

Is Rivalled by Human Hair Where Dandruff is Eradicated.

Sealskin is admired the world over for its softness and glossiness; and yet the human hair is equally as soft and glossy when healthy; and the radical cause of all hair trouble is dandruff, which is caused by a pestiferous parasite that saps the vitality of the hair at its root. Newbro's Herpicide is the only preparation that is fatal to the dandruff germ. Without dandruff there is no falling hair, but a luxuriant growth of glossy, soft hair is certain. Sealing the scalp won't cure dandruff. Kill the dandruff germ. Thousands of women owe their beautiful suits of hair to Newbro's Herpicide. Sold by leading druggists. BOON FOR SKIN SUFFERERS

BOON FOR SKIN SUFFERERS.

Based on the knowledge that diseases of the skin must be treated through the skin, D. D. D. Prescription strikes the germ that eats into the weak cuticle, and by destroying it destroys the cause of the disease. Though mild as a gargle and cleanly as pure water, D. D. D. Prescription is a powerful liquid in combating the germs of eczema, psoriasis, salt rheum, ringworm, dandruff and all forms of rash.

Originally a doctor's prescription, it is manufactured so that it may reach everybody, and is not therefore a "patent" medicine. Unprejudiced doctors prescribe it freely. No extravagant claims are made for it. Its strongest recommendation comes from thousands of persons who have been cured and their letters will be shown you at our drug store.

Get a bottle of D. D. D. today, and it will give you INSTANT relief.

MEDICINE HAT

BASE BALL TEAM

IS A FAST BUNCH

TEAM WILL ARRIVE TONIGHT FOR TWO GAMES WITH THE NEWARK MEN.

Medicine Hat is a town in Western Canada—Baseball League Team Advertising Scheme.

Secretary Hopkins has received from Manager Jack Cousins more information concerning the Medicine Hat baseball team from Medicine Hat, Alberta, Canada.

In the first place, Medicine Hat is the name of a town in the Western Canada baseball league. The town is sending out the team as an advertising scheme for the town. Manager Cousins has gotten together a good bunch of ball players and every one of them has a reputation.

The line up is as follows: McClain cf, West rf, Zurlage lb, Perry ss, Young 3b, Boylan 2b, Nesty lf, Benny c, Hollis, Ritchey and Campbell p. Brownie McClain the center fielder, played last season with Danville and Evansville in the Three I league. Harry West is a Canadian product and played with the St. Thomas Eastern Ontario league. He is fast and is a good hitter. Gus Zurlage played last year with the Danville team in the Virginia league.

Red Perry, shortstop with last year's Paducah team in the K. I. T. league. Like many other teams, the Medicine Hat team has a Cy Young. He played last year in the South. He was with the Montgomery team. James Boylan the second sacker, was with Helena, Mont. He is a fast fielder and a good man at bat.

Jack Benny caught last season with Danville, Va., and made a good record. James Campbell and Lefty Hollis played with the fast City league teams in Cincinnati. Both are good pitchers. Frank Ritchey the other pitcher, played in Canada a part of last season and finished down in Virginia.

The team manager, George T. Nierstheimer formerly managed the Jackson, Miss., ball team. He has succeeded in getting together a good team and though the training season has been one continual disappointment, on account of rain, the team is in excellent shape. He promises the local bugs a good game.

GAMES AT 3:00

Manager Maurath announced this afternoon that the two exhibition games with the Canucks would be called promptly at 3 o'clock Friday and Saturday afternoons. The Canadian team will arrive tonight.

LAST BASKET BALL GAME TONIGHT

The last basket ball game of the present season will be played tonight on the armory floor in East Main street between the girls' basketball teams of the Junior and Senior classes of the local high school. This game will be interesting from the fact that the Seniors have won two games by close scores from the Juniors and the latter team will make every effort to get revenge in tonight's game. The Junior team has been strengthened by considerable experience and they promise the upper class girls a "run for their money."

Australian Pug Here.

San Francisco, April 18.—The Australian pugilist, Bill Squires, landed from the steamer Ventura. At first sight Squires is not impressive, as he is much shorter in stature than our heavyweight fighters, but he has remarkably broad shoulders, a powerful chest and long arms. When he left Australia Squires weighed about 175 pounds. Apparently he has not lost any weight. Squires will rest for a few days before seeking a match.

RACING MAY GO AT CHICAGO THIS YEAR

Chicago, April 18.—There was a persistent rumor Wednesday that the new administration will see to it that there will be a little dash of racing added to the sports of the summer.

The report was to the effect that Harlem, Hawthorne and Worth are said to have 15-day meetings before the summer is over, and that matters will be fixed up so that everything will be run smoothly, just as things went before Washington Park track was closed up.

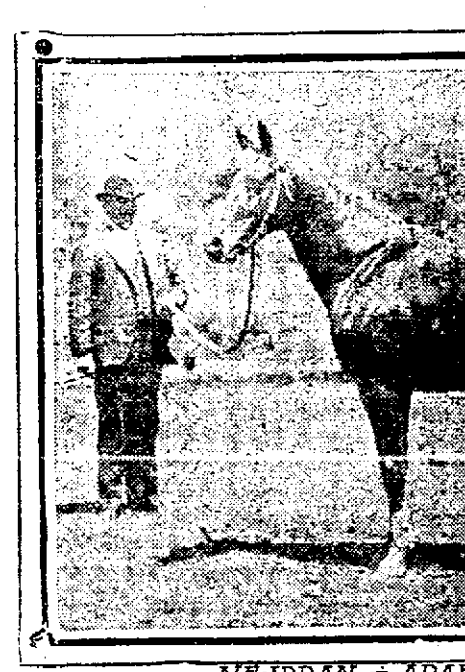

Rumors, too, that boxing will open sooner than expected were persistent. As a result of these reports the boxing managers spruced up all along the lines, and began to talk fight in a reassuring manner.

Chief Shipley is reported to have said that Mayor Busse will explain his attitude on boxing when he returned from Springfield, and will make known his plans before the end of the week.

One of the stories in circulation is to the effect that the Mayor will appoint a well known man to supervise the boxing, and under his direction only will the permits for shows be issued. In this way it is expected all the petty bickerings and quarrels that have marked the dealings in the past will be avoided, and absolute control of the sport attained.

CAVALRYMAN TO TEST ARABIAN HORSE ON 3,000 MILE RIDE.

NEJDHAN - ARABIAN HORSE.

NEW YORK, April 18.—To test the efficiency of Arabian horses for use in the United States cavalry, Second Lieutenant McCabe of the Sixth cavalry, stationed at Fort Riley, will start on an endurance ride on May 1 from Silverton, Ore., to Morris Plains, N. Y., carrying the regulation army equipment, a distance of more than 3,000 miles. He will use the celebrated stallion Nejdhan, imported from the desert of Arabia by Captain Gainsford, of the English army, and now owned by Homer Davenport, of Morris Plains, who offered the animal to the government so that the test might be made. Nejdhan is 12 years old.

POOLROOM KEEPER WAS FINED $10,000

Cincinnati, April 18.—The largest fine ever imposed in the Campbell Circuit court, $10,000 and costs, was assessed yesterday afternoon against George P. Huber in the trial of an indictment charging him with renting his property for poolroom purposes. The jury was out but 20 minutes.

At a previous trial of the case the jury disagreed. Motion and grounds for a new trial were at once filed. The usual grounds of error in the instructions, verdict not borne out by the evidence and given in heat and passion were set forth. The largest previous fine assessed in a poolroom case was in an indictment charging George Ehrlich with operating the poolroom. He was fined $5,000.

SQUAD HARD AT WORK IN SPITE OF COLD WEATHER

TWO FULL TEAMS ON THE LOT AT WEHLE PARK THIS AFTERNOON.

Big Roller Put at Work on the Outfield and It is Now as Smooth as a Carpet.

The bunch at the baseball park, Wednesday afternoon got in another good spell of practice though the weather was as cold as ever. Two full teams were on the grounds, Written having been with the squad for two days now. "Ra's" has gotten into condition quickly, being in as good shape now as the rest of the squad.

Manager Maurath sent a ten thousand pound roller to the park Wednesday and after several hours on the field, the appearance of things was greatly changed. The outfield is as smooth as a floor, the ditches where the tilling has been placed being level with the rest of the field. All of the outfielders are tickled over the condition of things now and with a little good weather and some more work on the infield, the Newark park will rank with the best in the circuit.

The bath is in full operation. The scrib was shown through the clubhouse by Business Manager Maurath and Ground-keeper Lake. Inside, things were as cozy as one could wish to have them. A small gas stove kept the place as warm as any bath room in the city. A heating arrangement for warming the water for the shower was in full operation and chairs and rugs completed the equipment of the apartment.

Hangers and hooks were provided for the players to take care of their garments and in fact nothing has been left undone that would tend to make the players more comfortable at the park.

The players appreciate the efforts of the company too, and are putting in their best ticks for the good of the organization.

There have been many improvements around the grounds too. New walks have been constructed of gravel and after a rain or two, the walks will be in fine shape. A foundation of cracked stone was first put down with a layer of gravel over the top.

SMITH SHOE COMPANY WILL INCREASE PLANT

The Smith Shoe company which recently established a branch factory in this city, is to increase its plant at once. Since the branch was put in operation here, only sewing by machinery has been done, a large number of girls being employed to run the machines. Today the management announces that steps will be taken at once to occupy the second floor of their present building where cutting machines for cutting the lining and leather used in the shoes will be installed.

This new department will employ from 20 to 30 additional people and will require a large amount of costly machinery. The present sewing department is located on the third floor of the old Tenny & Morgan building.

The action of the company in installing a new department assures local people that the new factory is a permanent fixture in the city and it is not improbable that new departments will be added from time to time until a complete factory for making shoes is in full operation.

A General Favorite.

"Yes," said Mrs. Stiles, "Mrs. Dowd is a dear soul."

"I often wonder," said her husband, "why it is that all you women like her so much."

"Well, she always wears such plain gowns and bonnets. She never has anything to make us envious."—Philadelphia Press.

Her Ingenuous Observation.

Not to Be Remedied.

"I'm sure I heard her telling you," said Miss Mudd, "that the trouble with me was that my complexion wasn't genuine."

"Oh, no!" replied Miss Knox. "She said your complexion was genuine and that that was the trouble."—Philadelphia Press.

A NATION OF CRIPPLES RHEUMATISM BEYOND CONTROL.

The Only Hope For Rheumatic Sufferers is Uric-O Treatment.

If rheumatism continues to spread as it has in the past few years, it would seem as though we would before long become a nation of cripples. The terrible destructiveness of this disease is apparent on every side of us. Almost nine out of ten of the cripples one meets had their affliction brought on by Rheumatism. How many thousands more there are that are hopelessly bed-ridden and whom we never see. Rheumatism from the very nature of the disease, can never cure itself and if neglected, is bound to grow worse rather than better. If you ever have any twinges of Rheumatism go to your druggist and get a bottle of Uric-O, the wonderful new Rheumatic Specific. It will cure you and it is the only treatment in the world that will cure you permanently and thoroughly. Uric-O cures by its direct action on the muscles, blood and kidneys. It seeks out the poisonous Uric and Rheumatic Acid and drives it from the system and it is only a treatment of such a nature that will ever cure Rheumatism. Liniments and plasters only serve to drive it from one spot to another. They never cure Rheumatism, because it is primarily a blood disease, and until the blood is cleared from the poison, a cure cannot take place.

There never was a case of Rheumatism that Uric-O could not cure and you should not put off taking it. You can test Uric-O free of charge if you wish. Just cut out this advertisement and send it to the Smith Drug Co., Syracuse, N. Y., together with your name and the name of your druggist, and state that you have never used Uric-O and would like to try it. They will give you free, through your druggist a 75 cent bottle, which you can test and try to your own satisfaction. Uric-O is sold and recommended in Newark by Frank D. Hall, North Side Square.

Camera Hunt

BY HONORE WILLISIE.

Copyright, 1907, by C. H. Sutcliffe.

Penelope took a long breath and started on after her brother and his wife, who were chatting with the guide. After the rough climbing of the morning the little plateau seemed heavenly. But even this respite did not ease Penelope's sense of irritation. Arthur's and Alice's fad had seemed so amusing at first that she had readily accepted their invitation to join them. To hunt the wild game of the Rockies with a camera was unique enough to be interesting, but the hunt of the long tailed deer, so high among the peaks that rapid work was misery, had been very bad. The three days' chase for a snap at the black wolf had been worse, and it ended in failure. But this chase for a mountain sheep was trying Penelope beyond endurance.

"It's easy for Alice," thought poor Penelope, digging her staff viciously into a crevice. "She's like a bundle of steel wires. She loves to get up before daylight and crawl half a mile on her hands and knees to wait at a spring for some silly beast to come for a drink. But I'm just worn out. Alice! Arthur!"

The three enthusiasts ahead turned back. "You three leave me here in the shade of this rock and come back for me when you are finished. I am worn out."

Arthur looked at Penelope in dismay. "But don't you want to see a mountain sheep?" he coaxed. "Since the black tailed deer were in the river bottom this morning the sheep are sure to be up here. Just think, Penelope, one of those curious, rare mountain sheep!"

But even this vision failed to move his sister. She shook her head. Alice gave a resigned little sigh. "I'll stay with you, Penelope," she said.

"No, you won't," said Arthur hastily. "It's not safe. Two women are no better than one here."

Here the guide interposed. He had been with them but a day, but already, besides being their guide, he was their counselor and friend. He was too well bred to be treated otherwise. Penelope looked at the stalwart, heavily bearded fellow in a troubled way. His resemblance to Dick in spite of the beard was startling.

"Now, I tell you, Mr. Seymore," he said, "you know as much about this business as I do, and you tell me you have been up this trail half a dozen times before. Why can't I stay here with your sister, fix up camp for the night and let Mr. and Mrs. Seymore go on and locate the sheep?"

"Good, good!" exclaimed Seymore. Mrs. Seymore looked a little dubious, but Penelope spoke eagerly. Here was a chance for an hour or two of rest that was not to be foregone.

"It will only be a couple of hours," she said pleadingly. "You will be back before dark, and I am so tired, and," she added artfully, "you may miss your only chance at the mountain sheep."

"Come on, Arthur," said Mrs. Seymore, and the two started off up the mountain.

The little plateau on which the colloquy had taken place was smooth and wide, with a little spring trickling out of the great wall of the mountain. Penelope sat quietly watching the distant peaks in the afternoon light while the guide set about his preparation for the night's camp, watching Penelope surreptitiously the while. Very lovely was the sunlight on the masses of her hair, the quick glow of color in her cheeks, the delight in her eyes as she looked at the distant glory of the canyon walls.

Finally her gaze wandered to the guide as his work brought him close beside her, and again the troubled look came to her eyes.

"Do you know," she said abruptly, "you have a resemblance to some one I used to know that is startling."

The guide straightened himself and looked at her keenly. "Is that so?" he said in his quiet way.

Without knowing why, she added, "It was some one who was very dear to me."

"And now?" said the guide tentatively.

"There is no now," said Penelope, rising and walking toward the edge of the plateau.

The guide watched her anxiously. "Not too near the edge, please," he called.

Penelope did not answer. Far, far below curled the silvery line that was the river, then up and up chaos of color in the rock masses, and silence, silence so intense that, though every sense was keen to catch the brilliancy of the canyon coloring, Penelope stood counting her own heart beats. She leaned over a little to look at the ledge below her.

And then the thing happened—a sudden vertigo, a hoarse cry from behind her, a sense of endless falling, then unconsciousness.

After ages of nothingness she opened her eyes—far above, the sky with a glory of sun and snow, a grandeur of distant peaks and far horizon, then a sense of pain and with it a man's voice calling:

"Penelope! Penelope!" And above the brush grown ledge on which she lay a man's face looked down upon her.

heaven's sake, don't move!" And the face disappeared, leaving Penelope alone with the blue above and the far circling of an eagle about the crags.

Then a rope with a carefully adjusted slip noose dangled beside her. "Can you put it over your head and under your arms?" the guide called. "For my sake, Penelope, be careful! And look up at me all the time. Don't look down into the canyon."

Too bruised and shaken to be surprised, Penelope took the noose with trembling fingers and tried to disentangle herself from the brush which had broken her fall. Slowly, inch by inch, with pain at every motion, she raised herself to a sitting position, then little by little adjusted the noose under her arms to the guide's satisfaction.

"Now," he called, "I'm going to lower your staff to you, and you must keep yourself from brushing the wall by means of it as I pull you up."

The fear and misery of that trip back to the plateau Penelope was never to forget. The rope cut into her chest until she would have fainted with the pain had not the difficulty of warding herself from the wall with her alpenstock forced her to keep her senses alert. Now, with a quick jerk, she was pulled upward for a few feet; then a pause, while the rope twisted her dizzily, with now a view of the serenity of the opposite canyon wall in the afternoon sun; now the yellow dampness of stone within an inch of her face, then another violent jerk upward.

As she paused within a foot or so of the plateau level she closed her eyes and dropped her staff. Then a pair of arms lifted her slowly, tenderly, and laid her on the ground, then carefully removed the rope.

Penelope opened her eyes. "Dick!" she said hesitatingly. "Dick!"

"Are you hurt?" asked the guide unheedingly. "What shall I do? Shall I go after your sister?"

"I think there are no bones broken," said Penelope weakly. "I am only terribly bruised and shaken. How I am to get down the mountain again I don't know."

"Oh, we can arrange that easily," answered the guide eagerly as he adjusted the steamer rug on which she lay.

Again Penelope's senses dimmed. "You do look so like Dick," she murmured. "Aren't you Dick? Only Dick was not so strong?"

"Tell me about Dick," said the guide, with a hand that trembled so that a cup of water he had brought sprinkled her gown.

Penelope looked at him with puzzled, half delicious eyes. "Dick? Why, Dick was my husband, and after we had our silly quarrel he went to Europe. That was three years ago."

The guide threw aside the cup. "Do you think it was a silly quarrel?" he cried. "Would you forgive Dick?"

"Yes," answered Penelope, "if only I could find him."

The guide stooped and lifted the slender, aching body into his arms. "Here I am, dear," he said. "Here is Dick! It was never Europe, after all. I came here, where I could work and be forgotten."

Penelope looked into his face, forgetting her pain in the wonder of it all. "I must have known it," she said, "in spite of the beard."

Then she closed her eyes on his shoulder. "Sheep hunting is not bad, after all," she said. And Dick held her close.

Needed a Mowing Machine.

He walked about the main thoroughfare of the little town awhile when he discovered one of those familiar red, white and blue globe topped posts. He had sighted his place, and the discovery was confirmed when his eye met the original legend, "Raise 10 cents or whiskers!"

There was but one tonsorial chair, and it was occupied by a stalwart fellow, evidently a blacksmith. Judging from the stubborn growth of beard, the patron could not have shaved but once a week on an average, for the growth was like a scrubbing brush. The barber made a lather, paced all over the countenance of the recumbent blacksmith, stropped the razor vigorously and sailed into his work. After he had struggled long and dangerously over his patron he felt constrained to say:

"Ain't I hurtin' you?"

"No," answered the Plutonian gentleman, still with energy.

"I seem to be workin' hard without gettin' there," commented the village barber further.

"Oh, just go on," encouraged the blacksmith. "You're doin' all right, for them you ain't cuttin' off you're crimpin' so much I guess they'll never grow again!"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Limitations of Fame.

In Professor Knight's reminiscences of Tennyson it is related that on one occasion when the poet laureate was stopping at an inn in the island of Skye the landlord was asked if he knew who had been staying in his house, and on being informed that it was the poet Tennyson, he replied:

"Lor, to think o' that! And, sure, I thought he was shentleman."

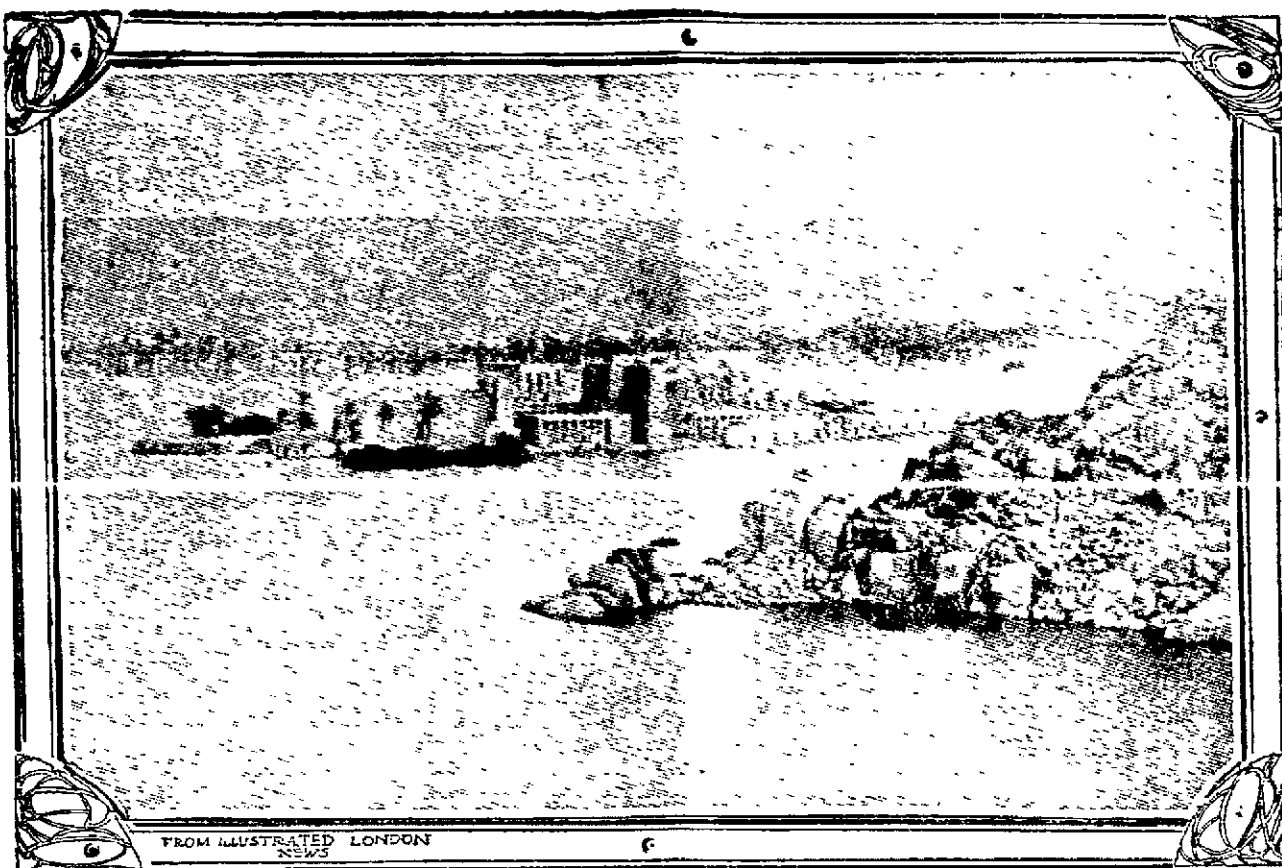

At Stirling some one asked the landlord of the house where the poet was stopping:

"Do you ken who you had wif you fother night?"

"Nan, but he was a plesant shentleman."

"It was Tennyson, the poet."

RAISING OF THE NILE DAM WOULD SUBMERGE TEMPLES.

PHILAE AND ITS TEMPLES AS THE TOURIST KNOWS THEM TO-DAY

LONDON, April 18.—The Egyptian government's new scheme to raise by 23 feet the Nile barrage at Assuan, so as to add 950,000 acres to the cultivated land and $17,500,000 to the annual revenue, threatens to swamp the famous temples of Philae. The ruins will be further strengthened, and a complete archaeological survey of Nubia will be made to record many other relics which must suffer by the inundation. A London paper suggests that Mr. Carnegie turn from libraries and contribute the $250,000 needed to move the temples to the high river bank.

DEATHS AND FUNERALS

MRS. NANCY RHODES.

Mrs. Nancy Rhodes, aged 93 years, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Bretz of Hebron, Wednesday noon. The deceased was one of the pioneer residents of this section of the country and was the widow of Joseph Rhodes. The funeral will take place Friday at 10:30 at the Licking Baptist church. Elder Ruffner will officiate and interment will take place at the Hebron cemetery.

The deceased leaves seven daughters: Mrs. John Bretz, Mrs. Laura Stover, Newark, Mrs. Alexander Smith, Reynoldsburg, Mrs. T. Tussing, and Mrs. Wallie Tussing of Bladensburg, and Mrs. Aria Miller of Thurston.

ANN McSWEENEY.

Mrs. Ann McSweeney, widow of the late Dennis McSweeney, for the past 37 years a resident of this city, died Thursday at 4 a. m. after an illness of eight weeks. The funeral will take place at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament Saturday morning at 9 o'clock. The Rev. Fr. Watterson will conduct the service.

The deceased was born in county Galway, Ireland, and came to America when but a child. She is survived by the following children: James T. of Garret, Ind.; D. C. of Chicago Junction, O.; D. P. of Painesville, O.;

Kidney Disease

Nature has given you kidneys to keep your blood clean and pure. As the blood flows through them the waste matter it brings from all over your body is filtered out through millions of little tubes, so small that they can be seen only under a microscope. Unless these tiny tubes are kept open, waste matter accumulates in your blood.

If the blood is chilled in any part of your body, or held back by pressure or injury, uric acid turns into little crystals, resembling sharp grains of fine sand. Over-feeding also may produce so much waste matter that your blood can't keep the uric acid dissolved, and the crystals are formed. Your kidneys cannot pass these crystals—they lodge and collect in the little filtering tubes, where they scratch and irritate the tender fibres, just as grains of sand would do in your eye. This irritation causes the pain in your back which warns you of kidney disease, Bright's Disease and death.

At the very first sign of kidney disease, you must take LIFE PLANT. LIFE PLANT has the power of dissolving the hard uric acid grains, being provided by Nature for just that purpose. You will feel relief from the first, and in a short time LIFE PLANT will have gently washed every trace of uric acid out of your kidneys (or wherever else it may exist) and give the organ back its blood-purifying powers. Thousands have saved themselves by taking LIFE PLANT. Read what Mr. John Lemon, of Wadsworth, Ohio, says:

"In regard to your medicine, I think it can't be beat in the world. Once I was so bad that I could not walk. I took one bottle and can say that I feel all right. My kidneys troubled me and I was dizzy in my head. That has about all left me. I think one more bottle will fix me all right. I can't say too much for Life Plant."

If you have any trouble whatever, write your symptoms to I. J. Mizer, M. D., President of the Life Plant Co., who will send you his personal advice, free. Our book—GOOD HEALTH—mailed to anyone free on request.

FIRST WORK HORSE PARADE.

New York to Honor and Protect the Faithful Laboring Beast.

For the first time in New York city a work horse parade will be held under the auspices of the Woman's auxiliary of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals on Memorial day. The New York Work Horse Parade association was formally organized to carry on the event. If sufficient response is received by the leaders in this movement it is intended to make this horse show of the working animals an annual feature of New York life.

With the exception of London and Boston, where work horse parades have been held for several years, with marked results in better treatment of draft animals, New York will be the first of the larger cities of the world to attempt to carry out this work.

The parade will assemble at Washington square and march up Fifth avenue to Madison square, where it will be reviewed before the A. S. P. C. A. building, and medals, money prizes, badges, diplomas and blue ribbons given to the successful contestants. The rules of the competition have been framed to recognize, as the two chief points, length of service and evidence of the best care and treatment in the horses entered. The work horses will be classified according to age and length of service under the ownership of the exhibitor or his predecessor in business. Every working horse, except cab horses, will be eligible to compete. Dock tailed horses or those sick, lame or out of condition or unfit for work will be barred.

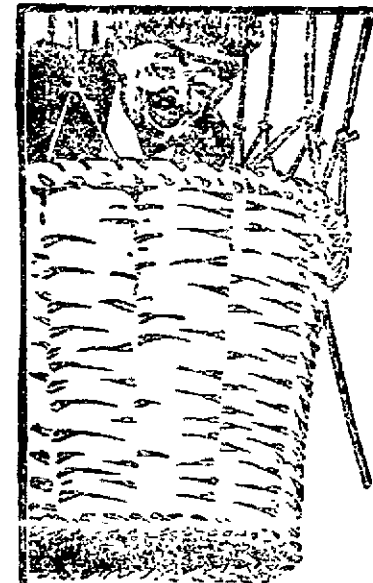

The value, action, style, youth or beauty of the work horse parade contestants will count less with the judges than their condition. The older horses will receive more consideration than the younger and perhaps more comely animals, provided they have grown old gracefully under good treatment and care. The judges will be instructed to consider the following points: First, does the horse go sound and breathe freely? Second, is he free from galls and sores? Third, is he in good hard working condition? Fourth, do his manners indicate that he has been kindly treated? Fifth, is his harness comfortable and well fitting?

One division of the parade will be open to horses owned and worked by exhibitors not less than fifteen years prior to the date of entry and another for horses not less than ten years in service.

About Ben Harriman.

[With the usual ones.]
About Ben Harriman (may his lines increase!)
Awoke one night from a deep dream of peace
And saw within his neatly furnished room,
Distinct and happy as the Fairbanks boom,
T. Roosevelt writing in a book of gold.
Exceeding wealth had made Ben Harriman bold,
And to the presence in the room he said,
"What wretched thou?" T. Roosevelt raised his head
And, like a Holmes or Hawkshaw or some such
Said, "Name of thee who do not speak the truth."
"And is mine one?" said About. "Nay, not so."
I have the Storers and Boutwell Bigelow
And others." Then said Harriman, "Would that I Might be enrolled as who could tell a lie."
T. Roosevelt wrote and vanished. The next night
He came again, and in electric light
He showed how he had treated that request.
For, lo, Ben Harriman's name led all the rest!

going to be a great trip and is a prize worth striving for. Remember the young woman who gets the biggest vote names her friend as a champion. The Advocate's guests will number ten young ladies beside the champion. Six will be from the city and four from the country districts. Candidates may work in any district or in any other city for votes, but no candidate in one district competes with a candidate in any other district. The Advocate has a system of keeping the records that could hardly be improved. All coupons will be preserved and the books are open to the inspection of candidates at all times.

Now is the time to enter. Consider the matter well this evening and send your name to the Advocate properly indorsed tomorrow. Further details will be furnished on application. The Advocate will give each contestant all possible assistance in an impartial way.

Several of the young ladies who have been talking with their friends about entering the contest have reported that without exception their friends have gladly volunteered assistance. The collection of coupons and the securing of new subscribers is easy. It is just as easy to get an old subscriber to pay in advance when the subscriber is told that it will help a friend to win the splendid prize.

FORAKER WILL FIGHT FOR MAIL CARRIERS

Lorain, April 18.—Senator Foraker has taken issue with the postoffice department in the case of the Lorain carriers who refused to leave a military company on strike duty at the call of Lieutenant Bowman. Bowman has said the postal is more important than the military and suspended the carriers, one of whom, Capt. Gove, is at the head of the company. Foraker has wired the suspended carriers that he will take up the fight on their behalf. The postoffice department has already ruled that Bowman is right.

AGGREGATE MANY MILLIONS

Consolidation of Presbyterian Properties Proposed.

SEMINARIES MAY BE MERGED

Mother, Brother and Sisters of Dona Gilman Placed Under Arrest—Appraisal of President McDowell's Bank—Destructive Fire at Akron. News of the Buckeye State.

Cincinnati, O., April 18.—Presbyterian properties aggregating millions of dollars are involved in a merger to be urged in the general assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United States, which will open its session May 16 in Columbus. The proposition is the consolidation of the Lane Theological seminary, the great McCormick Theological seminary in Chicago and the Western Theological seminary in Pittsburgh. The fact developed in the choice of Robert Laidlaw by the Cincinnati presbytery as one of its lay delegates to the general assembly. Mr. Laidlaw is one of the trustees of the Lane seminary, and Dr. McKibben, president of the institution, said that he nominated Mr. Laidlaw so that he could represent Lane's interests in the negotiations. The three seminaries, whose consolidation is urged graduate each year the majority of the young ministers for Presbyterian pulpits, about 50 new divines being the total of their graduation classes.

Gilman's Under Arrest.
Dayton, O., April 18.—Affidavits were filed in Magistrate Holderman's court charging Mrs. Leah C. Gilman, mother; Collins, brother, and Payne and Bessie, sisters, with murdering Dona Gilman, whose body was found on a common near her home Nov. 20 last. The grand jury recently ignored the case against the Gilmans. The arrested family appeared voluntarily and gave bond for their appearance. The mother and son were released on $2,500 bond and the two daughters on bond of $1,000.

Voyage of Prairie Schooner.
Bellefontaine, O., April 18.—Ezra Meeker, 80, arrived here, driving an ox team hitched to an old "prairie schooner," after having traveled nearly 3,000 miles, en route from Tacoma, Wash., to Huntsville, this county, his birthplace. Meeker left Washington January 29, 1896. The object of Meeker's trip was to establish monuments along the old Oregon trail in honor of the pioneer settlers, and 20 monuments were erected, one at a cost of $500.

Agent Found Guilty.
Marysville, O., April 18.—Charles Spoolman, of Cleveland, recently released from the penitentiary, where he served a term for embezzlement, was found guilty of embezzling money from the Big Four railroad company while serving as agent at Milford Center. He was charged with appropriating money and tickets valued at $145.98. His wife shared his cell in the county jail since her arrival in Marysville.

Former Senator.
London, O., April 18.—After an illness of several months William M. Jones, a wealthy land owner of Madison county, died at his residence. The deceased was an ex-member of the Ohio senate, having represented the Eleventh district, comprising the three counties of Madison, Clark and Champaign. He was president of the Madison National bank and interested in other local enterprises.

Local Option at Marietta.
Marietta, O., April 18.—Petitions requesting Mayor Leeper to call a local option election under the Beall law have made their appearance and are being freely signed. They will be presented to the council in a few days and the coming election will be fiercely contested by both elements, as it will be the first ever held here.

Consider Car Service Rules.
Columbus, O., April 18.—Representatives of the legal and operating departments of all the railroads in Ohio met in conference here and, considered the new set of car service rules recently promulgated by the Ohio railroad commission, and scheduled to become effective May 15. About 50 persons were present. A committee was appointed to go over the rules and report at a meeting to be held between this and May 15, and report whether any of the rules are impracticable from an operating standpoint. The disposition of the railroads is to abide by the rulings of the commission.

Incendiary Blaze.
Marion, O., April 18.—That firebugs are operating in the little village of Agosta is the conviction of authorities. Recently there were five fires there in one day. The sixth fire resulted in the destruction of the Godfrey livery stable. A section of the roof fell in while Walter Hickman was trying to bring out a horse. He was rescued by spectators. The loss will reach $3,000.

Liabilities and Assets.
Canton, O., April 18.—The appraisal of the Farmers' National bank, whose president, H. G. McDowell, committed suicide several weeks ago, has been filed. It shows the total liabilities of the bank are $312,740 and the assets $213,609. The cash on hand, including that collected by the trustees, is $79,599. The report was turned over to the trustees.

Foul Play Feared.
Marion, O., April 18.—The charred remains of Charles Hursey, 90, who lived in the outskirts of the city, were found in the ruins of his home, which had been burned to the ground. Coroner Brady said that Hursey undoubtedly was murdered and the house set on fire. With Hursey lived a colored man, Andrew Day, who is missing.

Stump Blower's Fate.
Springfield, O., April 18.—Joshua Land, a professional stump blower, was torn to pieces by an explosion of dynamite near New Moorefield. He was warming the explosive above an open fire and at the same time fitting a cap to a stick of dynamite when it exploded and set off a box full of dynamite at his feet.

Skeleton and Coins.
Marietta, O., April 18.—While engaged in planting a tree George Bell, John Barlus and Walter Birchard, city firemen, unearthed a human skeleton and a lot of ancient coins on the site of old Fort Harmar. A Latin gold coin was dated 1752, while an American coin bore the date of 1787.

By an Explosion.
Freemont, O., April 18.—Philip Overmeyer, a wealthy and retired farmer living near here, had both legs blown off while he was at work in the field. He was blasting stumps, and a premature explosion of one of the caps of dynamite caused the accident.

Dead When Found.
Springfield, O., April 18.—Thomas Kleinecht, 52, a machinist in the employ of the P. P. Mast company, fell from a platform at the plant into a tail-race 15 feet below and was dead when found a short time later.

Women to Patrol Parks.
Toledo, O., April 18.—Toledo is to have a staff of women police, to be detailed at the various parks.

Dry's Defeated.
Ironton, O., April 18.—Ironton voted under the Beal local option law and the "wets" won by 196 votes.

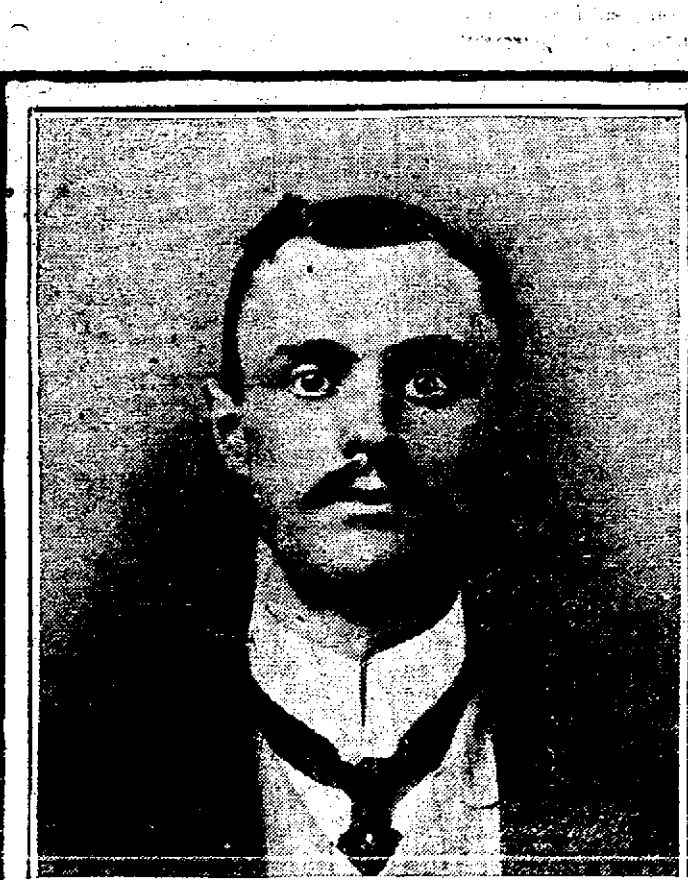

FRAUD CHARGED

AFTER AN INVESTIGATION OF COLLECTION OF TAXES IN KENTUCKY.

About $20,000 Lost to the State by Intentional and Deliberate Frauds.

Frankfort, Ky., April 18.—State Inspector Hines submitted to Governor Beckham a report of an investigation he has been conducting for some months into the tax collections in the county of Owen for the last 13 years, covered by the administrations of former Sheriffs June Gayle, P. A. Alexander and W. H. Swope, and he charges deliberate and intentional fraud by which the state government during that time lost about $20,000, including penalties and interest to date. Suits to recover the amounts from the bondsmen of the former sheriffs will result from the filing of the report.

AERONAUT SHOWS BALLOON CARS.

HON. C. S. ROLLS

LONDON, April 18.—Seventy-five different methods of navigating the air by means of aeroplanes are illustrated in miniature at the first exhibition of airship models held by the Aero Club of Great Britain and Ireland in Agricultural Hall, Islington. Each inventor seems confident that his idea has solved the problem. Adjoining this exhibition is another devoted to balloons. Here are shown three balloon cars belonging to Hon. C. S. Rolls, one of which, the Britania, was third in the recent race for the International Cup.

DECLARATION MADE BY TAFT

Regarding Policy of United States Toward Porto Rico.

TOUCHES UPON CITIZENSHIP

States There Are Congressional Difficulties With Reference to the Matter and Refers to the Power of Speaker Cannon—Liberty Enjoyed by the People of the Island.

San Juan, P. R., April 18.—A banquet was tendered Secretary Taft and party by the citizens of Ponce. Herminio Diaz, member of executive council, acted as toastmaster, and made a long speech in which he introduced Secretary Taft. He made a strong plea for citizenship and expressed the hope that Secretary Taft would unite with President Roosevelt against Speaker Cannon, who, when here recently, gave the Porto Ricans little hope in the matter of citizenship.

Secretary Taft replied: "Again I am urged to make a full and specific declaration regarding the policy of the United States toward the people of Porto Rico. I am only an humble member of President Roosevelt's cabinet. Whatever I may think or whatever I may do are matters of little importance to the people of this island.

"I can now only invoke your attention to the fact that President Roosevelt has visited Porto Rico and the island has been visited by Mr. Root, the secretary of state, and by Mr. Cannon, speaker of the house of representatives, and in some respects the most powerful man in the republic. What those visits indicate is this: That the people of the United States have a deep affection for the people of Porto Rico and feel more kindly toward them and have a greater interest in them than in the people of Cuba or the Philippines. The United States has gathered Porto Rico to her bosom and has given her that which means the material progress of the island—the benefit of the markets of the United States. She has given her the markets and the prosperity she enjoys today. She has given every Porto Rican the same liberty enjoyed by the people of the United States.

"You say you have not been given citizenship. President Roosevelt has recommended that citizenship be given, but there have been congressional difficulties with reference to this matter. I am not dealing, however, with generalities, but with the concrete facts. I ask, what is it that a Porto Rican does not enjoy that an American enjoys? You have every guarantee and security which a citizen of the United States has under the constitution. You have the writ of habeas corpus and the trial by jury, and when you are in a foreign country the same flag protects you that protects a citizen of the United States. Therefore, while President Roosevelt urges citizenship, he urges it on the ground of gratifying the sentiment of the people of this island. But when you come to examine the facts of what you ask, the question is whether it is not nominal rather than substantial."

HUSBAND AND WIFE CONTEST USE OF FORMER'S NAME.

MME. SIMONE LE BARGY

PARIS, April 18.—M. Le Bargy, an actor, who has obtained a divorce from his wife, an actress, is trying to prevent her using the name Le Bargy. Accordingly he has brought a suit in court to that effect. By the terms of the French law the woman by marriage is given the right to bear her husband's name, but she loses that right when a divorce is pronounced. Mme. Le Bargy's lawyer is quoted as saying that he will argue in court that a woman who under her conjugal name has made her reputation as an actress, singer, artist or author, should be granted the right to continue the use of the case name even as a pseudonym or nom de plume after being divorced.

DEATH SENTENCE HAS BEEN GIVEN THREE AMERICANS

By the Supreme Court of Mexico—
Only Hope Lies in President Diaz.

Monterey, Mexico, April 18.—Information has been received here that the supreme court of Mexico has affirmed the decision of the lower court in the cases of Hubert, Mitchell and Harle, three Americans convicted of poisoning two other Americans for their insurance money in Chihuahua, and that the three men have been sentenced to the death penalty by the Chihuahua courts. The only recourse for the condemned men lies in a pardon or commutation of sentence by President Diaz. Their crime is alleged to have been committed three years ago.

CORPORAL KNOWLES TO BE TRIED BY COURT MARTIAL

San Antonio, Tex., April 18.—Corporal Edward L. Knowles, Company A, Twenty-fifth infantry, who is charged with the shooting of Captain Edgar A. Macklin at Fort Reno, Dec. 21, 1896, will be tried by general court-martial at Fort Sill April 24. Captain Macklin is the chief prosecuting witness against Knowles, though much of the evidence is circumstantial. Corporal Knowles is charged in the first specification with going to the house of Captain Macklin disguised and with intent to kill, shooting him twice, once in the head and once in the side.

For Desertion.
Washington, April 18.—First Lieutenant Louis F. Beck, artillery corps, was dropped from the rolls of the army on account of desertion. He was serving at Fort Monroe and disappeared a few months ago.

Chamberlain's Expectations.
London, April 18.—Joseph Chamberlain, ex-colonial secretary, in acknowledging the receipt of a telegram of sympathy, said: "I am promised complete restoration to health, and hope speedily to resume public work."

Fire at Hot Springs.
Hot Springs, Ark., April 18.—Fire in the furniture and carpet store of H. Felpeizer destroyed the stock, valued at $50,000, and damaged the building to the extent of $10,000. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

THAW'S STATEMENT

HE RETAINS HARTRIDGE AND
PEABODY AS HIS COUNSEL
IN NEW TRIAL.

Jerome Will Oppose in Every Possible
Way the Release of Thaw on Bail.

New York, April 18.—Attorney Clifford W. Hartbridge of counsel for Harry Thaw, after Lawyer A. Russell Peabody had had a talk with Thaw in Tombs prison, made public the following letter:

Messrs. Hartbridge and Peabody:
Dear Sirs—Please continue as my attorneys of record. Very sincerely,
HARRY K. THAW.

Jerome returned to his office from a visit to his home in Lakeville, Conn. No move yet has been made toward an application for Thaw's release. Daniel O'Reilly of Thaw's counsel called on Mr. Jerome, but said the matter of bail was not mentioned. Mr. Jerome in speaking of the case said that his position is unchanged from what it was immediately after the jury reported a disagreement, namely, that he would oppose in every possible way the release of Thaw on bail. When questioned about the signed statement issued by Mrs. Nesbit Holman, mother of Mrs. Harry K. Thaw, Mr. Jerome said he had read it. "I can't vouch for some of the things said by Mrs. Holman because I do not know about them," said the district attorney. "But I can assure you that when she said that she furnished the district attorney no information for use in connection with the trial of Thaw she spoke the truth. Mrs. Holman never gave us any information."

CUBAN BANKERS DICTATE THE TERMS OF PROPOSED LOAN

Havana, April 18.—Governor Magoon was in conference with representatives of the bankers of Havana, to whom he stated that the present large treasury surplus made it advisable to issue a loan of $5,000,000 at 2 per cent per annum and repayable on 20 days' notice. The bankers did not consider these terms satisfactory and said so. Governor Magoon then invited the submission of bids within ten days, intimating that they would not probably need the money for one year. It is believed that the entire amount will be subscribed for readily.

The fellow who shoots off his mouth isn't always a big gun.

GENERAL DENIAL IS THE ANSWER IN MRS. EDDY'S CASE

Concord, N. H., April 18.—The charge that the suit for an accounting of the property of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, filed March 1, was not brought in good faith by the so-called "next friends" named in the suit, is contained in the answer of the defendants in the action, which was filed in the Merrimack county superior court. The defendants charge that these "next friends" have been induced to lend their names for use in the suit "at the instigation and at the expense of certain evil-minded persons, not related in any way to said Mary Baker G. Eddy, or having any interest in her estate." The answer of the defendants is a general denial of all the allegations made by the complainants in the original action, who sued Mrs. Eddy as "next friends."

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS

Have Ceased in Mexico—No American's Name Appears in the List of Injured.

City of Mexico, April 18.—Owing to the great difficulty in establishing communication with the cities in the region of the greatest devastation wrought by the recent earthquake, details are coming to this city very slowly. Much succeeding intelligence magnifies the extent of the disaster. From the latest reports it is now learned that the earth is quiet in the region which was early afflicted, but the destruction caused as late as noon Wednesday in the list of known dead, which now totals 30,000 and of the injured, which is approximately 100,000, many of whom are in the region. So far the names of no American or other foreigners have appeared in the list of dead and injured.

Prison Suspended.
Rome, April 18.—Father Romolo Murri, leader of the Catholic Democrats here, has been suspended and deprived of the papal instructions regarding the behavior of the clergy.

Tension. April 18.—A menacing French naval demonstration is taking place off Mozambique and the general situation is grave, owing to the resentment of the Moors over the French occupation of Oudja. Native opinion is unanimous that France is seeking to pick a quarrel with Morocco in order to make further annexations of territory. In the meanwhile the country swarms with "provocative agents."

FINAL SESSIONS OF PEACE MEET

Andrew Carnegie Decorated With Cross of Legion of Honor.

HE REPLIES TO ROOSEVELT

Answers Objections Raised by the President's Message to the National Arbitration Congress—Prominent Speakers at Two Banquets in New York—What Was Said.

New York, April 18.—The event of the greatest interest in connection with the final sessions of the international arbitration and peace congress was the decoration of Andrew Carnegie with the cross of the Legion of Honor by the French government, represented by Baron d'Estournelles de Constant, in appreciation of his work for peace and his gift of the palace at The Hague.

Among the speakers of the day were Earl Grey, governor general of Canada; Ambassador Creel of Mexico; Ambassador James Bryce of Great Britain; William J. Bryan, Professor Francke of Harvard, Samuel Gompers and others. Archbishop Ireland said grace. Cablegrams from foreign rulers were read.

Mr. Carnegie, who is president of the congress, gave out a statement as to the results of the congress. Although not indicated by Mr. Carnegie, the statement constitutes a reply especially to the suggestions contained in the letter which President Roosevelt addressed to the congress on its opening day. Mr. Carnegie quotes these statements as "objections" and proceeds to answer them, as follows: "Our peace conference has brought three objections clearly before us:

"The first—'Nations can not submit all questions to arbitration.' Answer—Six of them have recently done so by treaty—Denmark, The Netherlands, Chile, Argentina, Norway and Sweden. So much for the claims that nations can not submit all questions. They have done it.

"Second—'Justice is higher than peace.' Answer—The first principle of natural justice forbids men to be judges when they are parties to the issue. All the law rests upon this throughout the civilized world. Were a judge known to sit on a case in which he was secretly interested, he would be dishonored and expelled from his high office. If any individual refused to submit his dispute with a neighbor to disinterested parties and insisted upon being his own judge, he would violate the first principles of justice. If he resorted to force in defense of his right to judge, he would be dishonored as a breaker of the law. Thus peace with justice is secured through arbitration, either by court or by tribunal, never by one of the parties sitting as judge in his own cause. Nations being only aggregates of individuals, they will not reach justice in their judgments until the same rule holds good, viz: That they, like individuals, shall not sit as judges in their own cause. What is unjust for individuals is unjust for nations. Justice is justice, unchangeable, and should hold universal sway over all men and over all nations.

"Third—'It is neither peace nor justice but righteousness that shall rule the nation.' Answer—Righteousness is simply doing what is right. What is just is always right; what is unjust is always wrong. Men who place justice or righteousness above peace practically proclaim, as it appears to me, that they will commit injustice and discard righteousness by constituting themselves sole judges of their own cause in violation of law, justice and right."

Feeding the Poor.
Shanghai, April 18.—The famine relief committee is feeding 400,000 persons and will continue to feed about that number until June. Grain is arriving daily. Thirty thousand men are employed in work provided by the relief committee.

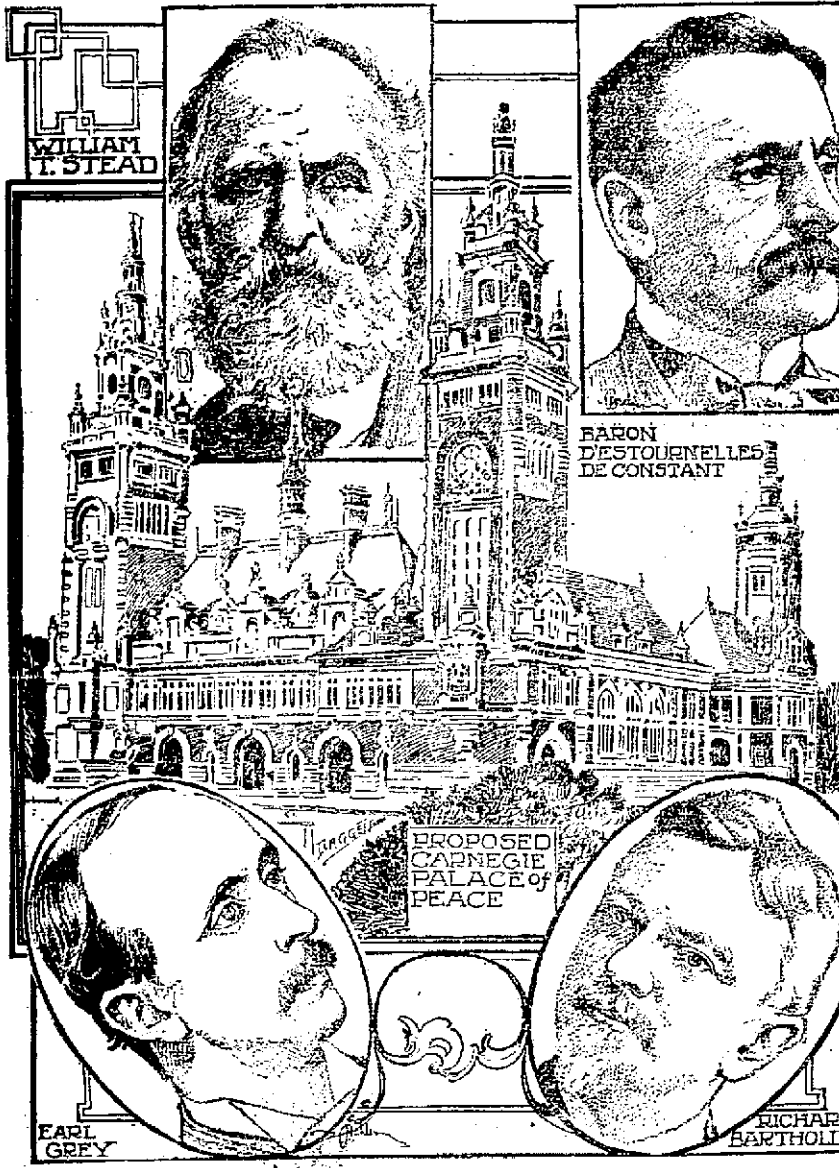

Senator Out of Town.
Boise, Idaho, April 18.—Senator Brady is out of town, but close friends authorize the statement that he has made no appeal to the president or Attorney General Bonaparte in connection with his indictment for alleged timber frauds.

THE WAR AGAINST WAR.

WHY PEACE WORKERS OF MANY NATIONS CAME TO NEW YORK FOR AN ARBITRATION CONGRESS.

Ultimate Idea Is the Federation of the World With a View to Abolishing War—This Conference to Crystallize American Sentiment In Favor of Arbitrating Disputes Between Powers—Richard Bartholdt, Political Pioneer For Peace—Baron d'Estournelles, International Senator.

By ROBERTUS LOVE.
THE session of the national arbitration and peace congress in New York April 14-17 is but another battle in the great war against war. This war has been going on for twenty years. The interparliamentary peace movement took definite shape in 1887, when a delegation from the British parliament visited the president of the United States. At that time war was declared against war, and the warriors of peace determined that it was to be a fight to a finish.
The peace movement is epochal. The world is tired of war. For centuries the plains have been drenched and the rivers reddened with human blood. Slowly the human race has evolved from the beast to the man. The individual has come at last to look upon the fight of man against man as abhorrent. Private physical encounters of violence are prohibited by the laws of all nations. They have been prohibited for generations. The code duello has been extinguished practically throughout the world and the ban of the law set against it. Law has been substituted everywhere for war in the settlement of private disputes. He who fights by force instead of through due process of law is stigmatized as a criminal and is punished as such. It is the law. Between individuals law reigns and nations enforce the law.

The Folly of Fighting.

But between the nations war is still, in extreme instances, the arbiter. Nations have the power to force individuals to fight for them. So long as this condition exists human liberty is a misnomer. A man who, when he believes that he has been wronged, resorts to a court of law for redress, obtaining redress without violence, must buckle on his armor at the behest of a nation and stand up to shoot and be shot at. Yet nations are merely the representatives of individuals. The governing bodies of nations are composed of individual men. These men are presumed to be of the choicest breed. They are supposed to be high class individuals, selected from the mass as being representative persons, rich in wisdom. The individual who remains in the mass need not fight, but the individual who is chosen to represent him and stand for the nation must declare war. That is the situation. Does it not seem inconsistent? An application of the commonest kind of common sense renders such a stance altogether untenable.

National law seems strong enough. The weakness lies in international law. Fifty years ago Tennyson foresaw the day when the battleflags would be "furled in the parliament of peace, the federation of the world." That consummation presupposes an elaboration of international law, and it is not merely a poet's dream. That it is practicable has been proved abundantly by the events of the past twenty years. These events have not been widely heralded. Vast world movements take form and force quietly and slowly. A very quiet and unassuming man started this great peace movement twenty years ago. He was a labor leader and had emerged but recently from a fierce industrial struggle. Then he was elected to parliament. He found that much of the time and energy of parliament and the administration were directed toward preparations for possible wars against other nations. He had learned to abhor war. He made a stand for arbitration. He proposed to substitute law for war. This man, William Randal Cremer, who is still working valiantly in the cause, founded the Interparliamentary union. To the average mind perhaps that body means little, yet it seems destined to usher in the Tennysonian parliament of man and to bring about in fact the federation of the world.

On the 31st of October, 1887, Mr. Cremer appeared at Washington and sought an interview with President Cleveland. Andrew Carnegie, who as president of the national arbitration and peace congress wields the gavel at the present meeting in Carnegie hall, arranged the interview. Mr. Cremer presented to the president a resolution drafted by himself to which he had secured the signatures of 234 members of parliament heartily indorsed the struggle. He methodized fully then as now, no matter what the difficulties. Like Carl Schurz, he felt that being an American was in itself a great asset, and he knew that he would succeed.

A few years after he became a member of congress Mr. Bartholdt began to take an increasing interest in the peace movement. In 1899 he attended the meeting of the Interparliamentary union at Christiania. He was the only American congressman present. He perceived that the union was limited to members of lawmaking bodies those nations which do not have parliaments cannot be represented. His vision leaped beyond a mere unofficial and unrecognized body. He foresaw a duly constituted world's parliament, the members properly accredited by their nations, to meet at stated intervals and create international laws of binding force. This was the next great forward step, the next movement toward the realization of the parliament of man. Mr. Bartholdt set about the business of achieving this result, a seemingly audacious thing, a piece of political daring which has no precedent in the annals of the world.
At the time when Tennyson poetically dreamed of the federation of the world no doubt a proposition such as germinated in Mr. Bartholdt's brain would have aroused derisive laughter among the nations. Now nobody laughs at it. Such progress in that very direction has been made within less than a dozen years that the consummation of the daring dream seems to be but just a little way beyond the rim of the present. All the forces of progress are working to that end.

Congress of Nations.
Through the efforts of Mr. Bartholdt the interparliamentary union was brought to the United States for the session of 1904. It met at the World's fair in St. Louis, where Mr. Bartholdt's famous resolution, declaring for the convening of a congress of nations in which every nation in the world shall have official representatives, was introduced and adopted by unanimous vote. As the years pass this resolution seems destined to be known as one of the world's most precious papers. In it one foresees the federation of the world.

The peace congress in New York brought together a bright array of distinguished personages from many nations. Great Britain sent a dozen noted men, among them William T. Stead, editor of the London Review of Reviews; C. F. Moberly Bell, manager of the London Times; Clement K. Shorter, editor of the London Sphere; Sir Robert Ball, professor of astronomy at Cambridge university; Hammond Hall, editor of the London Graphic, and Sir William Turner, principal of Edinburgh university. The German emperor named as his personal representative, Lieutenant General von Loevenfeld, general adjutant of his majesty and the only soldier on the list. It is significant that this distinguished soldier came at the express instance of the German war lord to work for peace. Baron D'Estournelles de Constant, member of the French senate and head of the French section of the international peace conference, came as one of the five delegates from his country. Earl Grey, governor general of Canada, crossed the border to represent our neighbor on the north. The novelist who writes under the name of Maarten Maartens was appointed Holland's delegate. So many distinguished Americans were placed on the list of speakers that space forbids their mention.
Baron D'Estournelles de Constant is called "the international senator of France." He is a small man, but his ideas are large. His stature is low, but his ideals are high. He had promise of a brilliant career as a diplomat, being ambassador to London, when his observations led him to devote his life to the war against war. He returned to France, gave up diplomacy and became a lawmaker in order to be in a position to serve him in carrying on his life work of promoting peace between the nations of the world. The baron has a sort of international union in his own household. His wife is an American woman, his secretary is an English girl and his child's governess is German.

Purposes of the Peace Congress.
The general purpose of the congress in New York is to crystallize American sentiment on the question of arbitration, so that our delegates to the forthcoming second peace conference at The Hague in June may demonstrate to the governments of Europe that this country stands for all progressive and practical ideas looking toward the abolition of war.

War is costly. Not only in human life and the anguish of bereavement is it costly, but from its mere material side it is an altogether extravagant and unnecessary expense. The debts of the world's nations now total about $34,000,000,000. Most of this is due to war. The annual interest on war debts, added to the cost of maintaining armies and navies, is about $3,000,000,000. There is only about twice that much gold in all the world available for money. It is said that one modern battleship costs as much to build as the combined cost of all the college buildings belonging to Harvard, Yale, Hampton and Tuskegee. Japan has but recently ordered the construction of a battleship to cost more than $11,000,000. China has ordered 2,000,000,000 rifles from European manufacturers.
Let us assume that all this money wasted for war and all the energies of the men drafted for fighting were devoted to the upbuilding of the world. There would be a forward movement such as history has not recorded and fiction scarcely dares to imagine. But that is just what the peace-makers are working to bring about, and this Carnegie hall congress is a step in that direction.

M. CAMILLE PELLETAN IN THE MATIN, SAYS AMERICA HAS AS INCOME TAX.

M. CAMILLE PELLETAN

Paris, April 18.—M. Camille Pelletan, former Minister of Marine and now chairman of the committee of Fiscal Legislation of the Chamber of Deputies, has written several articles for the Matin, in the course of which he has cited the cases of various nations which impose an income tax with satisfactory results, thus arguing in favor of an income tax for France.
M. Pelletan said that the free citizens of the United States had adopted the income tax system as applied in DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

San Placed on Whiskers.
A number of society young women of Hemingford, Neb., have formed an anti-whiskers society. A pro-whiskers society was formed several months ago by the young women at Harrison, and several anti-whiskers societies have been formed within the last year by young women in other Nebraska and South Dakota towns, says the Denver Post. Members of the Hemingford society subscribe to an agreement not to receive attentions from men—young, middle aged or old—who wear any sort of beard and not under any circumstances to marry men who have beards. Heavy penalties are imposed.

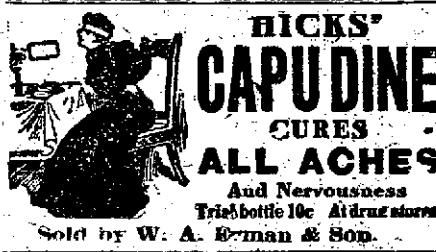

Hard Times in Kansas.
The old days of grasshoppers and drought are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today; although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shamburg has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. He says: "I was worn out and discouraged by coughing night and day, and could find no relief till I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure me." HAPPY DAY FOR SMALL BOY AND HIS BROTHER CIRCUS NEXT TUESDAY

Next Tuesday is to be a red letter day on the calendar for the little boy and his big brother. It is circus day and that means the grand climax to the plans and the meditations of the past several weeks.

According to the Forepaugh-Sells announcement there is some instructive amusement in store for those who witness the unloading of the circus paraphernalia. This is said to be an education in itself.

The consolidated Forepaugh-Sells show is from the standpoint of magnitude one of the three great circuses now on the American continent.

From the past reputation of the circus it is only reasonable to expect that it still carries with it some of the finest horses to be seen in the country and these will all be seen to advantage while the train is being unloaded. And the manner in which the work of unloading and setting up camp is conducted is said to be with clock-like precision.

Then, when this work is nearly completed, there will follow the monster parade in which the spectators will be given their first opportunity to gaze on all the animals and interesting features that go to make a circus menagerie.

All of the above attractions and many more will be closely watched by the little boy and his big brother, and it is safe to conjecture that many of "paterfamilias" will also be found taking advantage of the opportunity "just to show the children the circus."

Two performances are announced for Tuesday next, afternoon at 2 and evening at 8 o'clock.

PIG IRON PRODUCTION IN MONTH OF MARCH

Our prediction of last month that the producing furnace capacity in blast would decrease during March, has been borne out by returns for that period. Reports on the other hand, develop an interesting and noteworthy increase in production. It is almost uniformly true of all districts that the furnaces in operation produced individually great quantities of iron, even above the natural increase due to the longer month. The production in March reached a total of 2,186,709 tons, as compared with 2,047,936 tons in February, which, compared in terms of daily production, shows, approximately, 73,250 tons in February against 70,750 tons in March. Our report, however, shows that there were three furnaces not in blast at any time during March that were producing in February, and one other furnace that went out at the end of March. In addition to this the reduced daily production may be readily accounted for by pointing out the necessity for banking a large number of furnaces in the flood district for periods ranging from two to eight days. With all these disadvantages considered, therefore, March was a month of large production.—The Iron and Trade Review.

There is every reason to anticipate that the United States Steel Corporation will at some time with in the next few years be found a much more enthusiastic seller of crude steel in the form of billets and sheet bars than it has been in the recent past. Export sales can be counted upon, but only to a relatively limited extent. The corporation has wisely been pushing its exports into finished lines, which constitute a much greater percentage of total iron and steel exports than they did a few years ago. In 1904 our total iron and steel exports amounted to 1,167,678 gross tons, of which 314,324 tons was crude steel and 414,845 tons rails. In 1906 the total had risen to 1,325,157 tons, while crude steel dropped to 192,616 tons and rails to 328,038 tons. In 1904 crude steel and rails constituted 62.4 per cent of our total iron and steel exports; in 1906, only 39.3 per cent.—The Iron Trade Review.

WILL REMOVE FLOATING DANGERS TO SHIPPING.

COAST WRECK DESTROYER, THE U.S. REVENUE CUTTER NO. 17.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—With a steaming radius of five thousand miles, the projected "derelict" destroyer of the Revenue Cutter Service, as yet known as "Cutter No. 17," will be a most welcome addition to Uncle Sam's nautical strength. The contract for the new vessel will be let late this month, and the government will spend on her about a quarter of a million dollars. Equipped with all modern appliances and able to make more than 14 knots when required, the derelict destroyer will keep at sea in all sorts of weather. Her special duty will be to destroy floating wrecks and other dangers to navigation and to assist shipping in distress.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—San Francisco on Thursday night this week will commemorate her remarkable rise from the profound depths into which she was plunged by fire and earthquake on the morning of the same date a year before. On that anniversary the Merchants' Association will gather around the banquet board in the magnificent dining room of the new Fairmont Hotel.

The fire insurance differences have practically all been settled, and the $200,000,000 paid to the insured has almost all found its way back into new structures; public utilities are again in swing sufficiently strong to meet the growing demand of the rejuvenated city; nearly two-thirds of the four square miles of destroyed buildings have been rebuilt, and the new structures are going up at a more rapid rate than ever.

G. W. Harter, living at Thornville, R. F. D., No. 5, well known in Newark, O., says: "For several years I suffered with a complication of kidney, rheumatism and urinary troubles, and physicians could not help me. In spite of all the medicines I used I grew continually worse. My back became so weak I could scarcely get about and there was a constant dull heavy aching in the small of the back, varied with occasional sharp shooting twinges like knife thrusts that almost paralyzed me. I expected that I would never be able to get rid of the trouble but in talking about my case with Mr. Crayton, the Newark druggist, he advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, saying he had known of many of his customers who had used Doan's Kidney Pills for the same troubles and had found great relief. I got a box from him, went home and began using them. To make a long story short, they cured me and the cure has been a permanent one. I have had no more backache, my back is strong, the kidney secretions are regular and normal, and I attribute my present good health to the use of Doan's Kidney Pills."

THE MADSTONE.

Valuable Because Absorbent—A Clay Pipe Makes a Good One.

Physicians are often asked whether there really is any virtue in what are called madstones. One of them declares that these stones are of value, but that they would be of more value if their limitations were understood.

"There is no particular variety of stone or substance which may be designated exclusively as the madstone," he says. "I have seen many of them, so called, and no two were of exactly the same composition, geologically considered."

"Madstones act on the same principle that a blotting paper does when absorbing ink, and there is nothing that makes a better one than baked pipe-clay. A new clay pipe, procurable for a cent at nearly any store where tobacco is sold, cannot be excelled by any madstone, no matter how great its reputation."

"The action can be clearly demonstrated by placing a common dry red brick in contact with the margin of a puddle of water and noticing what capillary attraction will accomplish. Therefore to be efficient the only necessity is for the stone to be porous and have strong adhesive and absorbent qualities. Nothing mysterious about it."

"I have seen several that appear to be concretions, either vesical, renal or biliary, and were found in the bladder, kidney or liver of some animal—those taken from the deer supposed to be the best."

"When a person is bitten by a reptile or dog supposed to be mad and the porous stone applied to the wound the blotting paper action begins, and the blood, saliva from the mouth of the animal and whatever poison these fluids contain will naturally be capillary attraction be absorbed by and into the substance applied, no matter what name you may give it."

"The saying that if a stone sticks the wound is poisonous and if it does not take hold there is no venom present is untrue. If the stone is clean and dry it will adhere when moisture is within reach till it becomes saturated."

"For instance, a new red brick will absorb one pint of water. After the venom has been taken into the circulation the madstone is worthless, but as the victim is usually filled with whisky or alcohol at the same time the stone is being used the spirits may counteract the effect of the poison."

"I know of a stone which has a wide reputation and makes a good living for the family owning it. They never let it go out of their sight, and when the victim cannot be taken to the stone one member of the family can be hired to take the stone to the victim. In addition to traveling expenses, they charge $5 for the application and $2 extra for each hour that the stone sticks."

"This stone is busy a large part of the time. Not long since the stone held to a man's leg for over 100 hours, yet the man died. His life could have been saved if dependence had not been placed entirely in the stone."—Medical Brief.

I CAN CURE CANCER

At Home Without Pain, Plaster or Operation, and I Tell You How, Free.

I Have Proven Cancer Can be Cured at Home. No Pain, No Plaster, No Knife.—Dr. Wells.

I have discovered a new and seemingly unfailing remedy for the deadly cancer. I have made some most astonishing cures. I believe every person with cancer should know of this marvelous medicine and its wonderful cures, and I will be glad to give full information to all who write me and tell me about their case.

Peter Keagan, Galesburg, Ill., had cancer of the mouth and throat. Doctors said, "No hope." Mr. Keagan wrote: "It is only a question of a short time—I must die." Today his cancer is healed up and he is well. My marvelous radiated fluid did it. It has other just such cures to its credit. It is saving people every day and restoring them to health and strength. If you have cancer or any lump or sore that you believe is cancer, write today and learn how others have been cured quickly and safely and at very small expense. No matter what your condition may be, do not hesitate to write and tell me about it. I will answer your letter promptly, giving you, absolutely free, full information and proof of many remarkable cures. Address Dr. Rupert Wells, 2735 Radol Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.

IMPORTANT APPOINTMENTS MADE BY TRUSTEES OF DENISON INCLUDING PROF. OF ZOOLOGY

Who is Dr. G. E. Coghill Who Takes the Chair Formerly Graced by Dr. C. J. Herrick

Dr. Herrick Recently Resigned to Accept a Position as Professor of Neurology at Chicago University--- The Meeting in Detail.

Granville, April 18—The annual spring meeting of the trustees of Denison University was held at Granville Tuesday night and Wednesday. Important business was understood to be ready for discussion and an unusually full representation of the board of thirty-six trustees was present. Those in attendance were: Dr. H. F. Colby of Dayton, president of the board; Messrs E. J. Bailey, Torrence Huffman, E. M. Thresher, J. B. Thresher, Edward Canby, and F. B. Beaver and Judge B. F. McCann, all of Dayton; Messrs G. M. Peters, V. R. Shepard and Dr. G. W. Lasher of Cincinnati; Dr. H. F. Stillwell and Rev. Millard Brelsford of Cleveland; Charles T. Lewis, Esq., of Toledo, Dr. C. J. Baldwin, Rev. C. J. Rose, Burton Case and I. M. Swartz of Granville; S. F. VanVoorhis and J. R. Davies, Esq., of Newark; J. M. Amos of Cambridge; Dr. G. E. Leonard of Norwalk; Prof. A. D. Cole of Columbus, and Rev. B. F. Patt of Sidney, with President Emory W. Hunt member ex-officio.

The two most important matters decided were the election of a successor to Dr. C. J. Herrick, and the lengthening of the academy course to four years.

The newly elected professor of zoology at Denison is Prof. George E. Coghill, Ph.D., of Willamette University, Salem, Oregon. Prof. Coghill is a graduate of Brown University, class of '96, from which institution also he received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in 1902. He was tutor at Brown for a year or two and received his degree of Master of Science from the University of New Mexico in 1899, where he studied and taught under the late Dr. C. L. Herrick, who was then president of that institution. After he had received his Doctor's degree he spent a half year in Germany. He has since been in Oregon, first at Pacific University (Forest Grove), and since the beginning of the present year at Willamette University. He has made a fine record as a teacher and executive officer and has shown fine capability in research work. His lines of research have closely paralleled Dr. C. J. Herrick's work, and hence have called the latter's attention to Dr. Coghill. Dr. Herrick speaks in highest terms of Prof. Coghill, of whom he first heard through his brother, and later learned to know personally. Indeed, it is upon Dr. Herrick's recommendation that his successor is chosen.

Dr. Herrick's election to the chair of neurology in the University of Chicago is both a high honor and a great loss to Denison. But it is hoped that the good fortune which has hitherto attended Denison in filling vacancies by which it seemed that the university sustained irreparable loss, will follow the institution in this case. Dr. Coghill is married and has two or three children.

For some time the faculty and trustees have had under discussion the lengthening of the course in Doane Academy to four years instead of the three as at present. The necessity has not seemed urgent while Doane Academy has been able to equal or exceed the preparations of nearly all high schools with its present course. But the fact that the work has been done under very high pressure, together with the wish to enlarge the course in the future has led the faculty unanimously to recommend and the trustees to decide to lengthen the course, beginning with September, 1908, to a full four years. The delay of a year in putting this important action into execution is made in order to provide for the additional teaching force and expense involved and to give opportunity for prospective students to adjust their preparation in accordance with the change.

Mr. W. H. Roberts Denison '03, who has been a valued assistant in the Latin department since January 1906, has proved so serviceable a member of the faculty that he has been retained although the special emergency which led to his employment is past. He has been elected assistant professor of English, and it is expected that he will have charge of the Freshman classes in English.

Mr. August Rodebriest is continued as instructor in modern languages. Miss Jones of Oberlin has been appointed instructor in the gymnasium to take the place of Miss Adams.

Mrs. Carrie Altrogge has been elected

DR. HUNT SPOKE AT ZANESVILLE TO BOARD OF TRADE

Granville, O., April 18—Following the busy sessions of the trustees meeting at Denison Wednesday, Dr. E. W. Hunt took his departure in the afternoon for Zanesville, when Wednesday evening he was the guest of honor and chief speaker at a banquet given by the Board of Trade of Zanesville. The occasion is especially interesting as the relations between Zanesville and the Granville college at its beginning were very intimate. Indeed it may be said that Denison, as well as the Ohio Baptist convention and the first Baptist periodical in the west, all originated in Zanesville, because Rev. G. C. Sedgwick, pastor of the First Baptist church of Zanesville from 1820 to 1835, was the prime mover in all of these important undertakings which followed each other in close succession about three quarters of a century ago.

GRANVILLE MEN ATTEND MEETING

Granville, O., April 18—The Board of the Ohio Baptist Convention, of which Rev. C. J. Rose of Granville, is the corresponding secretary, met at the Neil House, Columbus, Tuesday morning and afternoon. It was attended by Dr. E. W. Hunt, Rev. C. J. Rose, Rev. A. S. Carman, Dr. R. S. Colwell and Rev. E. A. Reed of Granville. Dr. Colwell is treasurer and Mr. Reed recording secretary of the convention. Rev. B. F. Platt, formerly of Newark, and Rev. F. Brininstool, of Mt. Vernon, also went from Granville. Important reports of the missionary work of the Board of Ohio were given, including a statement of work in Central City and Johnston, this county. The report of the church edifice department by its secretary, Dr. G. E. Leonard, formerly of Granville now of Norwalk showed the important building work complete or in progress at many points in the state. A committee of which Rev. J. S. Carman is chairman, was appointed to consider a recommendation in the report of Secretary Rose, looking to the organization of the Sunday school work of the Baptists of Ohio, into a regular department of the Ohio Baptist convention with Mr. Wilson A. Holmes of Granville, as its secretary. Mr. Holmes is now the Field Worker of the Sunday School Committee of the Board, but the contemplated action would give to his work greater dignity and a closer affiliation with the official work of the denomination in the state.

PROF. CHAMBERLIN GAVE ENTERTAINMENT

Granville, O., April 18—Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Chamberlin entertained all the officers and teachers of the Baptist Sunday school in the church parlors at 5 30 o'clock on Wednesday evening. Tables were set and a delicious luncheon was served. Mr. Chamberlin whose office as superintendent of the Sunday school expires, presided. He is succeeded by Prof. W. H. Johnson. Prof. Chamberlin has proved a most successful and efficient superintendent. He gave words of welcome Dr. Baldwin then followed with a few remarks. Mrs. Brumback, superintendent of the intermediate department described the work of that department. Mrs. Clark spoke of the work in the primary department. Mr. W. A. Holmes the state Sunday school worker, made a short talk concerning his work. Prof. Johnson spoke of the outlook for the future, which seems so far to be very prosperous. About fifty persons were present and enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlin. The school at present is in very good condition. At the close of the assembly a box of carnations and roses was presented to Mr. Chamberlin as a mark of the appreciation of his work in the Sunday school.

On last Tuesday evening, Rev. and Mrs. Bunyon Spencer entertained most delightfully in honor of the seniors. The guests were requested to dress to represent some country, season or holiday, and this was very attractively and cleverly carried out by all. Intricate little ribbon puzzles were the first form of entertainment, after which there was a merry guessing contest as to who or what each one represented. After the serving of an elaborate supper some interesting charades were played, affording much amusement. Guests besides the seniors were Misses Lelia McKibben, Edith Williams, Gertrude Wright, Dorothy Kibler, Maude Thompson, Beulah Rector, Anna Barret, Frances Edmonson, Marion Lamb, Lottie Graham and Edith Fuller.

Manager Fowles announces a change in the Denison baseball schedule. The Senior vs. Faculty game which was scheduled for June 5, has been changed to May 28. The change in the date will permit Dr. Colwell playing, who leaves the latter part of May. Much enthusiasm is being stirred up over this game and it will be one that will bring out a large crowd.

Mr. Charles K. Chapman, Denison '05, who has been superintendent of the public schools at Maumee, O., during the past year, has been re-elected for the coming year. Also Miss Mary Ferguson, '06, who has been teaching at Croton, will assist Mr. Chapman.

William A. Roubenush, a former well known student of Denison, who graduated with the class of 1902, is practicing law in the office of Charles Barton, attorney for the B. & O. S. W. railway at Cincinnati.

Dr. Francis Shepardson, D. U., '82, has recently published a pamphlet on the Shepardson family, giving a record of the line of Daniel Shepardson, whose life was largely connected with Granville and Denison.

Dr. A. B. Chaffee, president of Bishop college, Marshall, Texas, has been spending a short time with the members of his family in Granville.

RECEPTION GIVEN BY FACULTY OF SHEPARDSON COLLEGE

Granville, O., April 18—The faculty of Shepardson College will give a reception on Friday evening in the beautiful new Stone Hall in honor of Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Herrick, who leave Granville at the end of this college year to go to the University of Chicago, and Prof. and Mrs. A. D. Cole who were so long a part of the college life of Granville. Prof. Cole goes at the close of this year from the Chair of Physics in Ohio State university at Columbus, to accept a similar chair at Vassar college, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., although every effort had been made at Columbus to retain him. Mrs. Cole is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Downer of Granville.

DENISON CATALOGUE IS INTERESTING

Granville, O., April 18—From advance sheets of Denison's catalogue for '06-'07 which is expected to be ready for distribution soon, the following statement as to the registration is of interest:

Graduate students, 4.

Seniors, 34; Granville College 26; Shepardson 8.

Juniors 25; Granville College 20; Shepardson 15.

Sophomores 79; Granville College 53; Shepardson 26.

Freshmen 92; Granville College 50; Shepardson 42.

Electives 110; Granville College 56; Shepardson 54.

Doane Academy—Seniors 47; Middlers 31; Juniors 36; Electives 52. Total, 160.

Shepardson Preparatory—Seniors 10; Middlers 7; Juniors 16; Electives 53. Total 86.

Conservatory of Music, 136.

School of Art, 26.

Total enrollment, exclusive of all repetitions, 568.

This enrollment exceeds by 25 that of last year, which was the highest on record up to that time. Only the lack of accommodations has kept the registration even down to this point. All of the accommodations in the girls' dormitory halls are filled, and in the conservatory alone half a dozen applications have been refused. In noting the size of the classes it should be remembered that of the large number of elective students very many are so registered simply because they are at present irregular, but they will, before graduating, become identified with some one of the regular classes. The growth of Denison, both in number and in resources is very gratifying.

His Dear Old Mother.

"My dear old mother, who is now eighty-three years old, thrives on Electric Bitters," writes W. B. Brunson, of Dublin, Ga. "She has taken them for about two years and enjoys an excellent appetite, feels strong and sleeps well." That's the way Electric Bitters affect the aged, and the same happy results follow in all cases of female weakness and general debility. Weak, puny children, too, are greatly strengthened by them. Guaranteed also for stomach, liver and kidney troubles, by F. D. Hall, druggist. 50c.

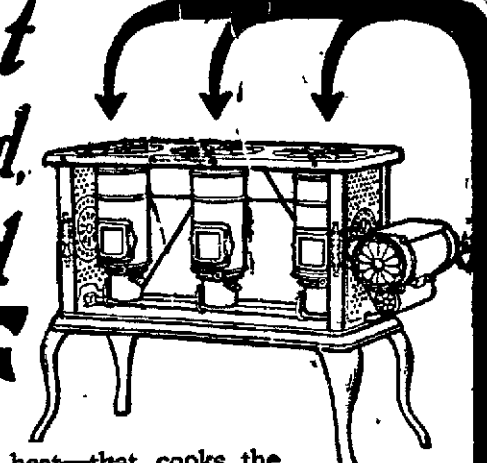

FROM STANFORD WHITE'S COLLECTION

• "CORNELLE AND MOLIERE—UNE COLLABORATION" BY JEAN LEON GEROME

This picture, Gerome's "Cornelle and Moliere—a Collaboration," fetched the highest price at the first night's sale of Stanford White's pictures in New York, selling for $1,600, considerably more than it sold for in the A. T. Stewart sale. "Cornelle and Moliere" is an excellent example of Gerome's work. Twenty thousand dollars was paid for the pictures of the collection sold the first night of the sale.
